Marigolds

A GOOD many flowers are called Marigolds; they are all bright, and sunny, and golden. It's hard to imagine any sort of garden without their faces shining all summer long, so you'll simply have to have them, too.

FRENCH MARIGOLDS are the mid-gets of the family, with small rosettes of gold and crimson.

956 Silver King. Lemon-yellow and maroon. This is the one we like the best. Pkt. 25 cts.

SCOTCH MARIGOLDS (Calendulas) are homey, and wholesome, and everybody likes them.

341 The Ball is the new, perfectly double, orange-yellow sort the florists raise. Pkt. 25 cts.

AFRICAN MARIGOLDS. Nobody ever stops liking these big, ruffled, pungent blooms. What bold masses they make, and how long they bloom!

941 Prize Strain, Orange. Pkt. 25 cts.

942 Prize Strain, Lemon. Pkt. 25 cts.

A dollar will buy these four packets of garden gold; and there are still more kinds on page 24.

Beautiful Gardens

FROM
FINEST ENGLISH SEEDS

A GARDEN is limited for space and cannot afford to harbor anything which does not yield richly in beauty and satisfaction. The possibilities of beauty and satisfaction, even from a little space, are so great that they ought not to be slighted for the sake of a few cents or a few dollars. And the cost of seeds for planting—even rare and excellent seeds—is so trifling that there seems to be no justification for using any but the best.

Believing that the patrons of SCHENLEY GARDENS will take this view, we offer only the finest flower seeds that we can get—English flower seeds. Not good because they are English but English because the best flower seeds are grown in England. We go there for the best, just as we go to Holland for the most superior tulips, or to Japan for the most exquisite lilies.

The most lovely and desirable varieties, true to type, true to name, true to color, selected for sure germination and vigorous growth—the seeds here offered will produce all that you hope for in the planting of your garden.

Asters mean star.
We got them from China. You see how the Chinamen got them.

"Last year I bought my Aster seed from you, and had the most wonderful flowers any one in this town ever saw . . . even the greenhouse men said so. Many of the flowers were only $\frac{1}{8}$ of an inch under 5 inches in diameter, and the colors were extra fine. I should like to duplicate that order."—Mrs. E. P. HARLING, 628 Fremont St., Manhattan, Kans.

Asters

Isn't China a funny place?

COLOR, color, color, of inexpressible softness and delight! Great vases full of Asters, and baskets tumbling over with them! Long borders fluffy with their myriad dancing flowers! No annual of such easy cultivation affords a more amazing variety of forms, the incurved American Beauties, the needle-rayed Kings, the ostrich-feathered types, and starry singles! Here are a few of the best, but there are dozens more of the finest kinds on page 8.

CALIFORNIA GIANT DOUBLE is the last word in genuine quality. Long stems superbly crowned with enormous, plummy flowers of favorite colors. Separate colors, pkt. 35 cts.

211 White. The finest in existence. Pkt. 50 cts.

212 Peach-blossom. Opens white and deepens softly.

213 Light Blue. Translucent and fine.

214 Light Purple. Very dainty.

215 Deep Rose. A soft, rich tone.

216 Dark Purple. A glowing color.

217 Mixed Colors. All the above.

218 Collection: One pkt. each of the 6 kinds, $2.

221 CATTLEYA. An improved Crego type of a rare orchid tint, undoubtedly the finest new shade for many years. Pkt. 50 cts.

SINGLE ASTERS are charming and even more prolific than the larger sorts. Separate colors, pkt. 15 cts.

281 Deep Blue. 284 Deep Rose.

282 Lavender. 285 White.

283 Carmine. 286 All Mixed.

287 Collection: One pkt. each of the 5 colors, 60 cts.

Something Delightful for Our Patrons

GLORIOUS color! Rich crimson flowers, one bloom after another, from June till autumn frost. A single bulb will produce a half-dozen or more rich blossoms of the size illustrated, on sturdy stems 10 inches high. We are delighted to offer you this new Anemone, Hollandia by name, because we know you will be delighted with it.

Never was there such color among the Anemones before. Only "the poppy's ravishing red" can compare with it. Also, the Anemone has a light, delicate fragrance which is an added charm. For cut-flowers, nothing is finer.

And the price! We are glad to tell you that you may have a dozen perfect bulbs for $1.50—a hundred for $12—under a special arrangement that we are able to make just now.

The bulbs may be planted outdoors from October to May in well-drained soil. They prefer a semi-shady situation and do well planted on the north side of a fence or wall. Provide good drainage. The bulbs are unevenly formed, very hard, and about the size of a small crocus. They are perennial and will prove a permanent and very desirable acquisition.

Your bulbs will bloom this summer. Order at once, for the supply is limited and we will fill orders as they are received. Shipment will be made about April 15.

ANEMONE HOLLANDIA, Natural Size

Choice Flowers from Seed

There is genuine pleasure and satisfaction in raising plants from seed. Not only is it most economical, but the grower also learns to know and understand his plants better than in any other way. By far the greater part of our finest garden plants are easily grown from seed, the annuals flowering within a few weeks and the perennials often producing blooms the first season.

For most gardens it is desirable to have a little seed-bed or coldframe especially for raising seedlings, but a very satisfactory early start can be got from a box set in the window.

The important thing is to secure the finest seeds of the choicest varieties, such as are offered in the following pages.

ACROCLINIUM (Helipterum). See page 33.

111 AGERATUM, Blue Perfection. Compact edging plants with large heads of mauve-blue flowers. Pkt. 10 cts.

121 ALYSSUM procumbens. Sweet Alyssum; Carpet of Snow. The finest of all edging plants, making a perfect ribbon of white. Pkt. 10 cts.

122 Saxatile compactum. Golden Alyssum. A low edging perennial producing masses of bright yellow blooms which contrast pleasingly with white and blue flowers 6 inches high. Pkt. 25 cts.

131 ANCHUSA italica, Lissadell. Brilliant gentian-blue flowers on 3 to 4-foot stems. Perennial. Pkt. 25 cts.

141 ANEMONE, St. Brigid, Schenley Gardens Excelsior Strain. A most lovely race with very large, semi-double flowers of brilliant hues and delicate shades, including rose, pink, vermillion, and scarlet. 10 inches. Pkt. of seeds 50 cts. Bulbs to bloom this year, $1.20 per doz.

Aquilegia

COLUMBINES are so vividly alive with an eager, elfin grace, a fluttering rapture like the wings of birds and butterflies! They dance across your garden year by year, for once they like you they never go away.

191 Schenley Gardens Extra-Selected Hybrids. Broad-petaled long-spurred flowers, pure white, blush, pink and rosy scarlet, dark blue and pale blue, primrose and rich yellow. Pkt. 50 cts.

192 Schenley Gardens Blue and White. Giant short-spurred flowers in bewildering combinations of these colors. Pkt. $1.

193 Schenley Gardens Pink, Rose, and Ruby. Large long-spurred flowers with contrasting corollas of primrose and yellow. Pkt. $1.

194 Schenley Gardens Silver Queen. Elegant long-spurred white flowers, faintly tinted rosy sapphire. Pkt. $1.

Any three packets of your selection, $2.25

195 Cærulea. (True.) The Rocky Mountain Long-spurred Blue and White Columbine. Slightly dwarf. Pkt. 25 cts.

196 Rose Queen. Large short-spurred flowers of rose, pink, and white. Pkt. $1.

For Aquilegia plants, see page 63

Antirrhinum ✓ Snapdragon

These perennials are best treated as annuals. Massed in beds or in front of shrubby borders, they bloom steadily throughout the whole summer and autumn, providing a superb display of graceful, many-colored flowers especially good for cutting. See also page 9.

TALL LARGE-FLOWERING ANTIRRHINUMS

These handsome plants grow 3 to 4 feet high, producing fine 1½-foot spikes. They look best in solid masses, bordered by a suitable low edging. Violas and forget-me-nots are good in front of the pure white, pale yellow, and apple-blossom sorts. Alyssum looks better before the crimson, brown and copper shades.

- 151 Brilliant. Very long sprays of deep rose-pink. Pkt. 25 cts.
- 152 Coral Rose. Very bright. Pkt. 25 cts.
- 153 Copper King. Velvety copper-crimson. Pkt. 40 cts.
- 154 Golden Queen. Rich yellow. Pkt. 40 cts.
- 155 Golden Chamois. Apricot-orange. Pkt. 40 cts.
- 156 Harmony. Terra-cotta and rose. Pkt. 25 cts.
- 157 Othello. Dark satin-maroon. Pkt. 25 cts.
- 158 Purple King. Glowing purple. Pkt. 40 cts.
- 159 Pink Venus. Flesh-pink. Pkt. 25 cts.
- 160 Snowflake. Snowy white. Pkt. 40 cts.
- 161 The Rose. Charming old-rose. Pkt. 40 cts.
- 162 Very Choice Mixed, all varieties, pkt. 25 cts.

NEW VARIETIES FOR BEDDING

- 171 Antirrhinum nanum grandiflorum, Dazzler. Masses of dazzling bright scarlet. Nothing finer or more magnificent for bedding or edging. Pkt. 50 cts.
- 172 Antirrhinum nanum grandiflorum, Red Emperor. Brilliant deep scarlet, a depth of color never before attained in Snapdragons. Pkt. 50 cts.
- 173 Antirrhinum nanum grandiflorum, Majestic Orange King. This splendid Snapdragon, with its sister sort, Sunset, forms the beginning of a new class which is truly majestic in its appearance. The coloring is an exquisite blend of art shades, rich terra-cotta above, the lip golden yellow, merging into a pure deep orange. The plant is robust and the flowers are closely set on the spike in favorable contrast to our present-day finest sorts. Pkt. 50 cts.
- 174 Antirrhinum nanum grandiflorum, Majestic Sunset. Terra-cotta, shading to rosy salmon. Pkt. 50 cts.

Gentlemen: Just a few lines to inform you of the wonderful success I have had in raising flowers from your seed of American Beauty Asters.

I had the pleasure of entering these Asters in the St. Louis Horticulture Show, held in St. Louis, October 3-5, and received a blue ribbon for them (First Prize), and this, by the way, was the first year I raised Asters.

Asters

These popular annuals thrive best under good culture which insures an abundance of fine blooms. Seed may be sown indoors in March and the seedlings transplanted to the garden when weather is settled or they may be sown outside in May. Plants in bloom late in the season may be potted up for indoor decoration. There are many races and types, a number of which are illustrated on pages 4 and 5.

AMERICAN BEAUTY ASTERS. This type bears large flowers with incurved petals, like a chrysanthemum, on stems 1½ to 2 feet long. They commence blooming in August and provide the finest sort of cut-flowers.

Bright Colors in Shady Places

The most perplexing problem in the garden is how to get flowers with plenty of color in a shady spot

TUBEROUS BEGONIAS

SOLVE THE PROBLEM

SEE COLOR PLATE OPPOSITE

It is always a problem what to plant in shady places. Few plants which endure shade will bloom well or produce any quantity of showy flowers. Tuberous Begonias are the solution of this problem. Their requirements are few: some shade, or even total shade, light, rich soil or sandy leaf-mold enriched with rotten manure, and plenty of water after they have started to grow.

The flowers vary marvelously in color and type: some are smooth-edged, some ruffled, and some almost fringed. The double varieties look like roses, carnations, gardenias, and ever so many other things; and the colors include every possible shade of white, red, pink, yellow, and orange.

When the ground is warm, they may be planted directly where they are to flower, or if earlier flowers are wanted, they may be started in a box of peat or light soil in early March and April, and moved outdoors after corn is up.

We have fine bulbs in the following colors: Salmon, Orange, Yellow, White, Pink, Crimson, Scarlet and Mixed.

The Tuberous-rooted Begonias I got from you last spring are truly wonderful. They are blooming now and I am surely delighted with them. I never have seen such beautiful blooms.—CHARLES L. RICHARDS, Box 225, Cortland, Ohio.

324 New Dark Red. A striking effect may be had by covering a bed of white roses with them, where they form a solid mass of glowing red. Pkt. 25 cts.

CALENDULA officinalis. Pot Marigold. These are the "Marygolds" of Shakespeare's time, and have lately become one of the most popular annual flowers for bedding and cutting, because of their rapid growth and general usefulness.

342 Orange King. Large, double flowers of intense, glowing orange. Pkt. 10 cts.

343 Lemon Queen. Superb light yellow flowers. Pkt. 10 cts.

344 Meteor. Creamy white, striped with orange. Unusually good. Pkt. 10 cts.

345 Mixed Varieties. A splendid assortment of colors and forms. Extra-large pkt. 25 cts.

CALCEOLARIA. Pot-plants which produce flowers of great size and curious, pouch-like shape in the richest and most varying blotched and spotted colors. 2 feet high.

351 Schenley Gardens' Magnificent "First Prize" Strain. Pkt. $1.

Foxgloves

THERE are soft harmonies of color-tones and a quiet dignity of form when the slim spires of Foxgloves gather before a shrubbery or a wall; and when they rise outlined against the sky they have the lissome symmetry of wild, uncaptured things.

Plant sweet williams and pinks about their feet, or creamy violas. Let hardy asters grow among them, to bloom when they are gone.

591 The Shirley. A new, large-flowered variety 5 to 7 feet tall, with shafts of rose and pink and pure white flowers spotted with crimson, and maroon, and chocolate. Pkt. 25 cts.

A packet of Hardy Border Pinks and one of The Shirley for 50 cts.

592 Isabellina. Also new, with golden yellow flowers which pale to cream and chamois. You ought to see them in a bed of pale blue forget-me-nots! Pkt. 50 cts.

A packet of Schenley Gardens' Alpine Blue Forget-me-not and one of Isabellina for 75 cts.

CALLIOPSIS. A very easily grown and well-known annual which flowers in great profusion throughout the summer. Effective in big beds or in masses in the borders.

361 The Garnet. Grows $1\frac{1}{2}$ to 2 feet high, bearing a multitude of crimson-scarlet flowers. Pkt. 25 cts.

362 Crimson King. Makes a perfect edging plant 6 to 7 inches high with a mass of large, dark crimson flowers. Pkt. 10 cts.

363 Beauty. Another splendid edging plant 8 inches high, with golden yellow flowers having crimson centers. Pkt. 15 cts.

364 Coronata. Grows $1\frac{1}{2}$ to 2 feet high, with large yellow flowers. Pkt. 10 cts.

Calliopsis, Perennial. See Coreopsis.

CANARY-BIRD VINE (Tropæolum canariense). A very pretty annual climber with bright yellow blossoms of bird-like form. It comes originally from the tropical regions of South America and should not be planted until the ground is warm. The curiously cut foliage is just as interesting as the flowers. It grows quickly to considerable height.

421 Select Seed. Pkt. 10 cts.

Campanula / Canterbury Bells

MEDIUM. These are the true Canterbury Bells, with single, bell-like flowers most gracefully arranged on long, upright stems. Splendid massed, or grouped in the border.

380 Splendid Mixture: Blue, Rose, Mauve, and White. Pkt. 25 cts.

CALYCANTHEMA. The Cup-and-Saucer type. Blooms the second year from seedlings started in April and set out in their permanent places by the middle of July. Cultivate well and water them when dry. Protect very lightly from damp and wet during the winter. $2\frac{1}{2}$ feet high.

382 Blue. 385 Mauve.

383 Rose. 386 White.

384 Lavender. 387 Choice Mixed.

Any of above, pkt. 15 cts.

381 Double. A handsome new strain of the Cup-and-Saucer Canterbury Bells, producing over 50 per cent flowers with the cup duplicated and ruffled in Purple, Blue, Pink, Lilac, White, and Striped. Mixed colors, pkt. 50 cts.

CARPATICA. Harebell. A lovely plant for rock-gardens, edges, and borders, bearing erect, saucer-shaped flowers of unusual size for so small a plant.

391 Pale Blue. Pkt. 15 cts.

392 White. Pkt. 15 cts.

PERSICIFOLIA. Peach Bells. These plants bear beautiful spikes of bell-shaped flowers in great profusion. They thrive best in light, rich soil.

401 Grandiflora alba. Very large, pure white bells. 2 feet high. Pkt. 15 cts.

402 Grandiflora, Blue. Large, handsome, blue bells. Pkt. 15 cts.

411 Pale Blue. Pkt. 15 cts.

412 Alba. Pure white. Pkt. 15 cts.

CANDYTUFT (Iberis). One of the most important annuals for garden, edging, and mass bedding, bearing large heads of attractive white and variously colored flowers.

431 Giant Hyacinth-flowered White. Specially selected seed, producing immense pure white flowers. Pkt. 10 cts.

432 Rose-Cardinal. Rose-cardinal-red. The best colored Candytuft in the country. Pkt. 10 cts.

433 Dwarf Large-flowered Hybrids. Very dwarf plants, suitable for edging and carpet bedding, producing many brilliant-colored flowers. Pkt. 15 cts.

Carnations / Dianthus

Most desirable flowers for fragrance in the garden. Other forms of this flower will be found under Dianthus, page 18.

CHOICE HARDY BORDER. Perpetual bloomers. A new type producing a great variety of fancy flowers.

441 Special Mixture. Various colors. Pkt. 25 cts.

MARGUERITE. A superb strain of these large flowers, which has long been popular.

442 Superb Mixture. Extra quality. In colors ranging from yellow to deep crimson. Pkt. 25 cts.

Celosia / Cockscomb

Here is a large collection of various brightly colored flowers of very curious flattened and plume-like forms. When dried, some of them make excellent winter bouquets.

THOMPSONI MAGNIFICA. Improved Feathered Cockscomb. Choice flowers of various colors.

451 Special Mixture. Pkt. 15 cts.

PLUMOSA. Ostrich Plume Cockscomb. A graceful ornamental feathery strain in many shades of yellow, rose, and crimson.

458 Prize Strain. Mixed colors. Pkt. 25 cts.

459 Chinese Woolflower. An especially well-developed strain of this feathery type. Mixed colors, pkt. 10c.

Plumed or Feathered Celosia

Carnations

Centaurea

CYANUS. Cornflower; Bachelor's Button. Very showy hardy annuals for planting anywhere, and have been long very popular. It is important to plant only improved, selected seed, and to eradicate the volunteers, as they become weedy after several years. 3 feet high.

461 Double Blue. A selected strain bearing very large flowers on long stems. Lovely flower for cutting and bedding. Pkt. 10 cts.

462 Double Pink Shades. A choice selection of variable shades of pink and rose, desirable quality. Pkt. 10 cts.

463 Double White. One of the finest varieties for mixing with other garden flowers. Pkt. 10 cts.

464 Collection: One pkt. each of above (3 pkts.), 25c.

465 Choice Mixed Strain. All colors. Pkt. 10 cts., 1/4 oz. 30 cts.

IMPERIALIS. Sweet Sultan. One of the very finest annuals for cutting, with long, graceful stems and beautiful, fluffy flowers of delicate fragrance. Strongly recommended. 2 1/2 feet high.

471 Amaranthus-Red. A new shade; very large flowers. Pkt. 15 cts.

472 Brilliant Rose. 479 Pure White.

473 Deep Lavender. 480 Mixed. All colors.

478 Heliotrope, creamy white center.

Any of above, except Amaranthus-Red, pkt. 10 cts.

468 Rich Yellow (Suaveolens). This is the yellow Sweet Sultan, a color missing in the Imperialis group, but exactly like it in other respects. Pkt. 10 cts.

CHRYSANTHEMUM leucanthemum maximum.

The true Shasta Daisy. Large, pure white flowers on fine long stems for cutting.

481 Select Seed. Pkt. 15 cts.

CLARKIA. Annuals which enjoy partial shade. They bear double and semi-double flowers on long spikes which are good for cutting. 2½ feet high.

491 Elegans. A mixture of brilliant and very beautiful varied colors. Pkt. 10 cts.

COBÆA scandens. A popular annual vine which readily grows to a height of 20 to 30 feet, producing large flowers of cup-and-saucer type. Start seeds indoors early and set out when danger from frost is over.

503 White and Purple Mixed. Pkt. 10 cts.

COLUMBINE. See Aquilegia, page 7.

COREOPSIS. Perennials with long-stemmed, golden yellow flowers of utmost decorative value, both for bedding and cutting. Annual varieties are listed under Calliopsis, page 13.

371 Grandiflora. The showiest and finest sort. Pkt. 10 cts.

CORNFLOWER. See Centaurea cyanus, page 14.

CYPRESS VINE (Quamoclit pinnata). A charming annual climber with fern-like foliage and star-like flowers of crimson or white. 15 feet high.

526 Mixed. Pkt. 10 cts.

Cosmos

These modern strains of this favorite flower have developed wonderfully large and beautifully tinted flowers, both in the single and the crested types, as well as advancing the date of flowering so that they may be enjoyed for many weeks before being killed by frost. Use them for backgrounds or corner masses. Their tall growth and feathery foliage are ideal for the purpose.

Double Early Anemone-flowered. A new, early-flowering type of greatest merit. The flowers are large, well-colored, and come into bloom in July, lasting until frost.

514 White, Pink and Crimson, Mixed. Pkt. 25 cts.

Double Late-flowering Anemone Type. A strain with fine Anemone-type flowers which begin to appear about the middle of August, and continue until destroyed by late frosts.

518 Mixed Colors. Pkt. 25 cts.

MAMMOTH SINGLE-FLOWERING

New Giant Hybrids. Bears flowers 6 to 8 inches in diameter on slender stems, beautifully adapted to cutting.

519 Mixture of Delicate Colors. Pkt. 10 cts.

Early-flowering. A rare large-flowering strain with blooms similar to the above, but beginning to appear extra early and continuing until frost.

520 White. Pkt. 10 cts. 522 Crimson. Pkt. 10 cts.

521 Pink. Pkt. 10 cts. 523 Mixed. Pkt. 10 cts.

Dahlias

Dahlias may be grown from seed as readily as the commonest garden annuals. If seed is sown in February or March it will produce nice, well-established plants by the time one is able to plant tubers, and, in consequence, the seedlings are, in most cases, ready to bloom as soon as, if not before, the plants raised from roots. They produce fine Dahlias of rare beauty, equal in many cases to some of the most expensive varieties. Unless you want to grow certain named sorts, it is much more interesting, and certainly much more economical, to raise Dahlias from seed.

532 Double Large-flowering. This seed was secured from twenty named varieties. Pkt. 25 cts.

534 Double Pompon. Includes seed saved from the newest and best varieties. Pkt. 50 cts.

535 Single Colossal. A choice mixture saved from long-stemmed flowers 8 to 9 inches in diameter, with wide perfect petals. Pkt. 25 cts.

537 Coltness Hybrids, Improved. A charming race of dwarf-growing, brilliantly colored Dahlias with single flowers 3 to 4 inches across, ranging from deep crimson to white, and embracing shades of delicate pink, rose, yellow, mauve, scarlet, and purple. Their dwarf, compact habit and persistent blooming make them ideal for bedding purposes, while the long, stiff stems give them unexcelled grace and beauty when used as cut-flowers. The seed germinates quickly and the plants bloom within two months from sowing. Pkt. 50 cts.

Coltness Hybrid Dahlias

Delphiniums

GLORY and splendor are magnificent words, but they are inadequate to the elusive, ineffable quality of the beauty of these gracious flowers. Blue, true blue, in columns, shafts and spires, they rise in stately grandeur above the common, workaday flowers with the superb dignity of their undenied superiority.

The world is more than a little mad about them nowadays; fabulous prices are being paid for tiny, pedigreed plants. Our seed is saved from these same precious named varieties, the result of years of breeding and selection. It comes to you pure and unadulterated from a famous English hybridizer who has collected it from his choicest specimens.

The plants it will produce will astonish you with their splendid habit and vigor, yielding flowers surpassing all Delphiniums you have seen before. They will increase in beauty season after season.

541 Schenley Gardens' Magnificent Mixed. Saved from the finest varieties in pale and silver-blue, mauve, and lavender, with soft and brilliant blues, and the dark and glowing gentian shades. 5 to 7 feet. Pkt. 25 cts.

542 Blue Boy. Single giant trusses; rich blue with white eyes. 6½ feet. Pkt. 75 cts.

543 Blue Prince. Single; bright blue with white center. 5½ feet. Pkt. 75 cts.

We don't know why they named these flowers after the Dolphin, but the kids are having a good time anyway

Dianthus

No flowers are more universal favorites than the sweet old-fashioned Pinks. They are so easy to grow and so cheerful under adverse conditions that plant-breeders have given them considerable attention and many fine strains are now available. The Dianthus family is very large, and other flowers of this species will be found listed under Carnations, Pinks, and Sweet William.

571 Chinensis. Double China Pink. Large flowers of various colors, ranging from white to deep scarlet, with crested petals. Pkt. 15 cts.

572 Deltoides. Rock Pinks. Plants with mossy foliage and small, rose-colored flowers. Fine for edging and rock-gardens. Pkt. 15 cts.

573 Deltoides, Selected Hybrids. A beautiful mixture of fine new shades in this well-known and well-liked flower. Pkt. 25 cts.

574 Laciniatus fl.-pl. Japanese Pink. A new, extra-large, double-flowering type with fringed, lacy petals in a broad range of colors. White, Orange, Scarlet, Salmon, Crimson, and Rosy Purple. Pkt. 15 cts.

Eschscholtzia / California Poppy

Remarkably attractive plants for bedding or edging. They are exceptionally good for planting with nigella. Sow from April to June where they are to flower as they do not transplant well. We have made a special effort to obtain a comprehensive and distinct list.

611 Alba. Pure white.

612 Aurantiaca. Bright orange.

613 Ballet Girl. Crimson.

614 Crocea. Orange, with fluted petals.

615 Rosea. Rose-pink, with fluted petals.

616 Carmine King. Deep carmine-red.

620 Fringed Yellow. Yellow, with fringed petals.

622 Mauve Beauty. Pure mauve.

624 Scarlet Beauty. Deep scarlet.

625 Tango. Bronze-red overlaid with terra-cotta.

626 The Geisha. Inside brilliant yellow, outside orange-crimson; petals fluted; very beautiful.

628 Crimson. Carmine.

629 BRILLIANT MIXTURE. Contains all the above in equal proportions.

Any of above, pkt. 15 cts.

EUPHORBIA. Vigorous annuals, valuable for edging beds of taller growing plants or in mixed borders. The flowers are without much value, the beauty of the plants being due to the ornamental foliage.

631 Variegated. Creamy white rosettes of leaves at tips of stems. 2 feet high. Pkt. 15 cts.

632 Heterophylla. Annual Poinsettia. Branching and bushy, with smooth green leaves which become pale orange in midsummer. Pkt. 15 cts.

FOXGLOVES. See page 12.

GAILLARDIA. One of the most useful hardy perennials, growing vigorously under all conditions of culture and neglect. Equally good for garden decoration and cutting.

641 Perennial Varieties Mixed. Seed saved from a collection of the very best new sorts. Pkt. 25 cts.

642 Dazzler. Brilliant flowers, 5 inches across, of pure golden yellow with a rich red center, so harmoniously proportioned that while it loses nothing of the brilliancy, it has much more grace and refinement than the common varieties. Stems long and erect; unexcelled for cutting. Pkt. 25 cts.

GERANIUM. Splendid bedding plants which are continually in flower. May be kept all winter in a deep cellar.

651 Zonale. Seed saved from 18 choice named varieties, having large flowers of perfect form and brilliant color. Blooms first year from seed. Pkt. 50 cts.

GODETIA. Very beautiful annuals for spring and summer borders, making sturdy little bushes covered with large flowers of brilliant, delicate shades. They seem to enjoy hot, dry summers.

691 Whitneyi, Azalea-flowered. A striking and beautiful new variety with semi-double flowers of brilliant carmine-rose, paling to pink. Pkt. 25 cts.

695 Mixed. Saved from many rare and variegated shades of the best named varieties. Pkt. 10 cts.

GOURDS. Strong, bushy annual vines with curious fruits, many of grotesque shapes and all interesting.

701 African Pipe. A luxuriant annual vine which produces the gourds from which calabash pipes are made. Pkt. 10 cts.

702 Mixed. Many varieties. Pkt. 10 cts.

GYPSOPHILA. Baby's Breath. The annual and perennial varieties are in great demand for combining with other cut-flowers. In order to have the annual in flower all summer, replant occasionally throughout the season.

711 Elegans grandiflora alba. Annual. An improved strain, giving clouds of delicate white flowers on graceful sprays. Pkt. 10 cts.

712 Elegans grandiflora rosea. Annual. Similar to the above, except that the flowers are rosy scarlet with white centers. Pkt. 10 cts.

713 Paniculata. Perennial. Produces clouds of tiny, mistlike flowers unsurpassed for garden decoration and cutting. 2 feet high. Pkt. 10 cts.

714 Paniculata flore-pleno. Perennial. A double-flowering form of the preceding. Pkt. 25 cts.

HELIOTROPE. Old-time garden flowers of soft, tender shades and exquisite fragrance.

751 Regale. Dwarf; large, delicately scented flowers. The best variety for masses. Pkt. 25 cts.

HELICHRYSUM. By far the most important of the Everlasting or Straw-flowers. They grow rapidly to 3 to 4 feet and make showy border plants throughout the summer. Cut the flowers before the centers unfold, strip off the foliage, and hang upside down in a cool, dry place, so the stems will dry straight. There are unusually fine colors listed here, such as white, salmon, and violet which are seldom seen in the usual winter bouquets.

Lupines

THESE exquisite flowers are badly misunderstood. In spite of a wolfish name, they are neither savage nor rapacious, but so thoroughly domesticated that they delight in dry, sterile soil, and upon hot, sunny banks. They actually thrive upon neglect.

Surely such an accommodating flower must sooner or later become popular! Heretofore, seedsmen have been limited to very ordinary sorts because seeds of good kinds were scarce and nurserymen found the plants were very difficult to handle and ship.

We are proud to be the first to offer the finest named varieties from a specialist in England where the Lupines have been enjoyed to an extent unknown in America. They will delight you with their sprays of fragrant, delicately colored, pea-like flowers.

This wolf isn't very fierce after all.

- 770 Single, Mixed. Saved from fine specimens of rose, blush, white, yellow, scarlet, maroon, and purple flowers. Pkt. 10 cts.
- 772 Double and Semi-double Early-flowering. Blooms in July from spring-sown seeds. White, primrose, flesh-pink, deep rose, scarlet, cherry, and purple. 6 to 10 feet high. Pkt. 10 cts.

773 Double Imperator. An enormously improved Hollyhock, bearing flowers $5\frac{1}{2}$ to $6\frac{1}{2}$ inches across, with wide, elegant, deeply frilled outer petals, centered by a close rosette about 2 inches across. The whole suggests a Crested Begonia on a giant scale. It comes in multitudinous colors and shades, such as cerise, salmon with cream and rose center, delicate pink with rose and yellow center, light yellow flushed rose, with canary-yellow center, and many others. The sturdy plants branch vigorously from the base, making majestic clumps with strong stems which can be cut for decorative purposes. Pkt. 50 cts.

HUMULUS. Japanese Hop Vine. A splendid annual climber growing 20 to 30 feet in a season. Thick, ornamental foliage which will shelter from sun or curious eyes. Healthy and not frequented by insects.

782 Japonicus variegatus. Silvery variegated, very ornamental leaves. Pkt. 10 cts.

HUNNEMANNIA. Giant Tulip Poppy. An annual, blooming the first season from seed sown in March.

791 Fumariæfolia. Large, yellow, poppy-like flowers, excellent for cutting. $2\frac{1}{2}$ feet high. Pkt. 10 cts.

IPOMŒA (Moonflower). See Vines, page 37.

811 Iris Chrysofor

An extremely interesting and beautiful Iris, the result of a cross between Iris chrysographes and I. forrestii. The flowers are white, sulphur-yellow, bronze, blue, and purple, marked with gold and velvety violet streaks and blotches, totally distinct from all other Irises. Useful for cutting and bloom within twelve months from the time the seed is sown. Pkt. 50 cts.

KOCHIA. Summer Cypress. A delicate bushy plant resembling a small, closely clipped evergreen, very symmetrical and compact, especially valuable for temporary hedges. It turns bright red in autumn.

821 Childsi. Pkt. 10 cts.

KUDZU VINE (Pueraria). A perennial vine from Japan, growing about 8 feet the first season, but going as high as 50 feet when established. Large, bold leaves, which make fine shade. It is especially good for covering dead trees and large verandas.

831 Thunbergiana. Small purple flowers. Pkt. 15 cts.

All of our flower seeds are from the crop of 1929

Larkspur / Annual Delphinium

Larkspurs are splendid cutting flowers which come into bloom early and last long. The long spikes of bloom should be cut freely, to give the plant opportunity to form new blooms on the side-shoots at the base. It should be sowed as soon as the ground can be worked, in the place where it is to bloom, as the seedlings do not flourish, as a rule, after being transplanted. Rigorous thinning of the seedlings must not be overlooked as the plants should stand nearly a foot apart each way.

Dwarf Double Emperor Strain. The finest type of bedding Larkspur yet produced. Strong, erect plants and handsome spikes of semi-double flowers 1 to 1½ feet high.

561 Special Mixture of Apple-blossom, Rose-White, and Light Blue Shades. Pkt. 10 cts., ¼oz. 25 cts.

Tall Double Stock-flowered. Very handsome, large, semi-double flowers especially fine for garden display. 2½ feet high.

562 Ageratum-Blue.

563 Deep Violet-Blue.

564 Bright Rose-Pink.

565 Purple.

566 Deep Rose.

567 Scarlet-Rose.

568 White.

569 White, Striped Light Blue.

570 Mixed. All the above colors.

Any of above, pkt. 10 cts., ¼oz. 25 cts.

Please do not confuse these Larkspurs with the Delphiniums. Larkspurs are annuals. Delphiniums are perennials. For Delphiniums see pages 16 and 17.

Annual Larkspur

Meconopsis Baileyi

LATHYRUS. Perennial Sweet Pea. Strong climber suitable for covering old stumps, walls, and fences. Produces a profusion of sweet-pea-like flowers on fine stems for cutting. Not fragrant.

841 Mixed Colors. Pkt. 15 cts.

851 LILIUM regale. See page 60.

LOBELIA. A charming edging plant especially valuable for brilliant masses, excelling in the rare blue color so much desired in the garden; also fine for pots and baskets. For early flowering, sow seed in March and transplant in May.

861 Oxonian. Compact little plants covered with Oxford-blue flowers with striking white eyes. Annual. Pkt. 25 cts.

862 Cobalt Blue. Beautiful dark blue flowers. 6 inches high. Pkt. 25 cts.

863 Snowball. Pure white flowers, very fine for mixing with other varieties. 6 inches high. Pkt. 25 cts.

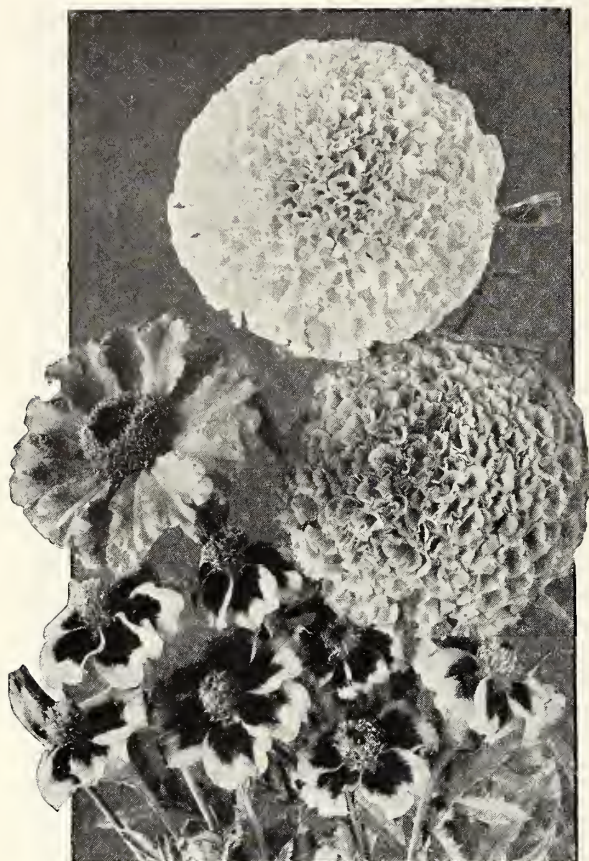

LUPINUS. See pages 20, 21.

MARVEL OF PERU (Mirabilis jalapa). Four o'Clock. Tender perennials used as annuals, making bushy plants suitable for temporary hedges or masses. Bloom in late afternoon.

931 Many beautiful shades, Mixed. Pkt. 10 cts.

MECONOPSIS. A beautiful blue perennial Poppy discovered in Tibet several years ago and introduced to commerce for the first time last year. It makes a fleshy root-stock, throwing up a cluster of leafy stems 2 to 3 feet high, which bear large, four-petaled blooms of sky-blue, centered by yellow anthers. This plant has created great enthusiasm abroad and has been awarded many honors. Last year the seed was extremely scarce and almost impossible to obtain.

959 Baileyi. Pkt. 50 cts.

French and African Marigolds

Marigolds

AFRICAN. Tall, strong-growing annuals with ferny foliage, producing strongly scented, double, ruffled flowers in great profusion. One of the best annuals.

944 Eldorado. Very tall and double. Pkt. 15 cts.

945 Pride of the Garden. A dwarf double; orange. Pkt. 10 cts.

FRENCH. Similar to the African but much smaller in growth and bloom. The flowers are brighter and many of them are gracefully single. Superb for edging, either in or out of flower, as their foliage is handsome.

952 Legion of Honor. Double; a most striking combination of bright yellow with velvety crimson blotches. Pkt. 10 cts.

953 Diadem. Single flowers of mahogany-red, edged with gold. Pkt. 10 cts.

955 Star of India. Crimson, striped maroon. Pkt. 15 cts.

957 Finest Mixed. All colors. Pkt. 10 cts.

MIGNONETTE. An old favorite flower which should be freely sown in all flower and shrubbery borders, also on dry banks, walls, and at the margins of paths, and in any sunny, dry situation.

961 Odorata grandiflora. Very sweet and old-fashioned. Pkt. 10 cts., oz. 50 cts.

962 New Red. Large, handsome heads of copper-red. Pkt. 15 cts.

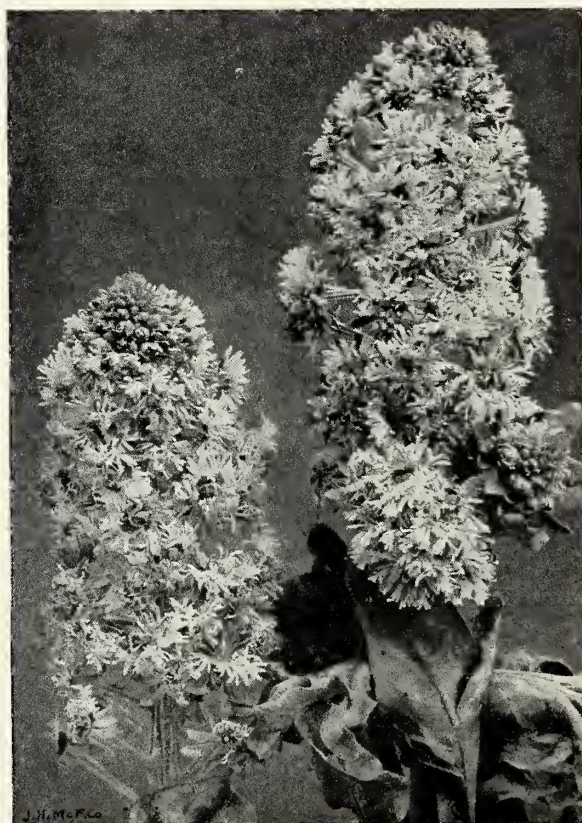

963 Giant White. Pearly white heads, sometimes showing red stamens which add to their beauty. Pkt. 25 cts.

964 Golden King. Massive heads of golden orange flowers. Pkt. 15 cts.

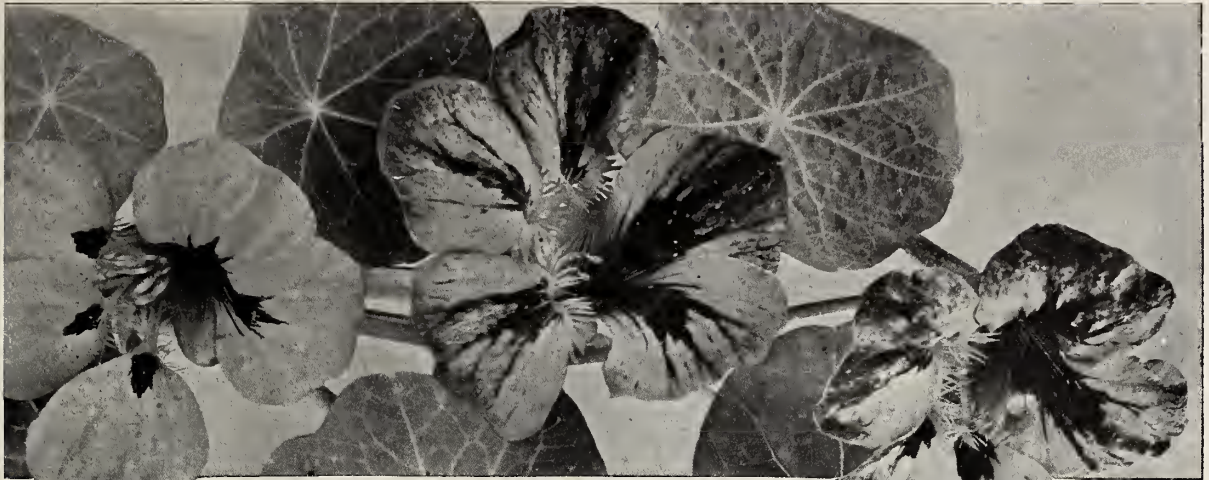

965 Trial Garden Mixture. A special selection of seed from large-flowering sorts blended to include yellow, orange, white, crimson, ruby, and bright red. Pkt. 10 cts., 1/2 oz. 40 cts.

MYOSOTIS (Forget-me-not). Indispensable for edging walks and beds of taller flowers, especially tulips.

971 Schenley Gardens Alpine Blue. Compact little plants which cover themselves with masses of lovely, intensely blue flowers which are strikingly beautiful for edging, or in the rock-garden. 6 inches. Pkt. 25 cts.

Mignonette

Nasturtiums

NASTURTIIUMS. So bright and cheerful and so well known that they need no description, these charming flowers are equally effective as masses in the garden or when cut for indoor decoration.

1001 Dwarf, Mixed. A mixture of 22 best named sorts, unexcelled for edging purposes. Sow 1 ounce of seed for 10 to 15 feet of row. Oz. 15 cts., $\frac{1}{4}$ lb. 50 cts., lb. \$1.50.

1002 Climbing, Mixed. A mixture of 26 best named sorts. Oz. 15 cts., $\frac{1}{4}$ lb. 50 cts., lb. \$1.50.

NEMESIA.

1006 Blue Gem. A lovely azure-blue edging plant 9 inches high. It is an annual and is unexcelled for massing at the front of borders and as a ground-work for rose-beds. Pkt. 25 cts.

1007 Strumosa, New Hybrids. Unusually large flowers of brilliant rich deep red, scarlet, fiery orange, yellow, carmine, rose, pink, royal purple, violet, many spotted and blotched, of indescribable beauty in masses. Spring seedlings flower from June to September. An annual, 15 inches high. Pkt. 50 cts.

NICOTIANA. Star of Bethlehem. Especially prized for the fragrance of their star-like flowers which pervades the whole garden after sundown. They grow rather tall and bloom early and late. Hardy annual.

1011 Affinis. White flowers; very sweet. Pkt. 10 cts.

1012 Affinis Hybrids. Various bright colors; all very highly fragrant. Pkt. 10 cts.

1013 Sanderae, Crimson King. A dark, velvety crimson form of the lovely, fragrant Star of Bethlehem, commonly grown in old gardens. This variety comes quite true from seed but occasionally produces a bewildering mixture of brilliant pink and pale salmon shades which are extremely graceful and effective in the garden. A few of the common Nicotiana affinis ought to be grown among them for the sake of contrast. Pkt. 25 cts.

NIGELLA. Very graceful plants with finely divided light green foliage amongst which nestle the rather large and curiously formed flowers. A charming effect can be produced by planting them with California Poppies; see page 18.

1021 Damascena caelestina. Delightful azure-blue. $1\frac{1}{2}$ to 2 feet high. Pkt. 10 cts.

1022 Miss Jekyll. Double flowers of tender blue on fine, long stems. Pkt. 10 cts.

1023 Miss Jekyll, White. The white form of the preceding. Very attractive. Pkt. 10 cts.

Nigella

Pansies

Everybody loves Pansies. There is a queer little charm about their elfin faces that awakens responsiveness in every human heart. Seed sown in February and March produces flowers for late spring and summer; sown in April will bloom in August and September. Best results are obtained by sowing the seed in early autumn and transferring the tiny plants to a coldframe, or to a sheltered spot outdoors where they can be protected in the winter. They will come into bloom in early spring, and about Easter-time can be transplanted to their permanent quarters while in full bloom.

It is well to make the ground very rich with rotten manure or other fertilizer, and to see that they have plenty of water at all times. Light shade helps during the hot months, and faded flowers should be picked off to prevent seed forming which will cause them to stop blooming. In midsummer it is frequently wise to cut back the plants somewhat and fertilize with liquid manure to induce large, late bloom.

1031 Schenley Gardens Choicest Exhibition Varieties. Handsome flowers of great size and richest colors and markings; strongly recommended for fine individual blooms. Pkt. 35 cts.

GIANT TRIMARDEAU. A popular large-flowered strain for bedding purposes; separate colors or mixed as below.

1035 Apricot Queen. Chrome-yellow and chamois, with a maroon eye. Pkt. 25 cts.

1037 Golden Queen. A large, brilliant yellow. Pkt. 10 cts.

1038 King of the Blues. Bright azure, with a dark purple blotch. Pkt. 15 cts.

1039 Lord Beaconsfield. Velvety purple, with lavender upper petals. Pkt. 10 cts.

1040 Queen of Sheba. Purple-black, with golden eye. Pkt. 10 cts.

1041 Snow Queen. Pure white. Pkt. 15 cts.

1042 Victoria Red. Ruby-crimson, with a dark blotch and a small golden eye. Pkt. 25 cts.

1043 Peacock. Upper petals blue, bordered with ruby, the lower petals ruby-rose, splashed with blue, the whole flower margined with silver. Pkt. 25 cts.

1049 Mixture of Giant Trimardeau Varieties. Pkt. 10 cts., $\frac{1}{4}$ oz. 50 cts.

Lawn Seed

When buying Lawn Seed, you want it pure—free from weed seeds and chaff. If it is not pure, you have to start making the lawn all over again. It is also easy to ruin a good lawn by sowing bad seed to renovate it. Nothing is more disheartening and aggravating. If you get some bad seed only once you will agree with this wholeheartedly. To make a lawn requires a lot of hard work or hard cash. You can't risk losing your whole investment by saving a few nickels on your seed. Good seeds cost but little more, but are worth double the price.

We mix our own Lawn Seed from named varieties of seed, tested and guaranteed as to purity and germination. When you let our seed run through your hands and look at it closely you will feel and see that it is real seed and nothing but seed—whole kernels with a healthy smell and luster. These seeds will produce you a lawn which it will be a delight to own. The very finest grasses are included in our mixtures.

SCHENLEY MIXTURE, for sunny lawns. 100 lbs. $38, 25 lbs. $10, 10 lbs. $4.50, lb. 55 cts.

SHADYSIDE MIXTURE, for semi-shady situations. 100 lbs. $45, 25 lbs. $12, 10 lbs. $5, lb. 60 cts.

For dense shade we would suggest using Poa trivialis which is imported from Holland. Price on application.

Poppies

SHIRLEY POPPIES

A selected type of graceful habit, producing satiny flowers of great size, on slender stems. Sow seed early, where it is to bloom, as Poppies cannot be successfully transplanted. 2 feet high.

1131 Mixed Colors. A gorgeous mixture from selected plants in beautiful new shades. Pkt. 10 cts.

1137 Double Shirley Poppies. An especially fine selection of semi-double and double forms of the famous Shirley Poppies, including white, salmon, pink, crimson, orange, rose, scarlet, cherry-red, all showing yellow anthers, and sometimes several shades in one flower. 2½ feet high. Pkt. 25 cts.

OTHER ANNUAL POPPIES

1145 Double Carnation-flowered. Very large, handsome, double flowers, finely fringed, in many brilliant colors. These Poppies keep much longer than other types after cutting and are extremely showy. Mixed Colors. Pkt. 10 cts., oz. 25 cts.

Any of above, pkt. 10 cts., ¼oz. 50 cts.

PERENNIAL. Tall, hardy plants of utmost value in permanent borders or shrubbery edgings. Blooms through late summer and fall in great heads of showy flowers.

- 1100 Mixed. Saved from newest and most beautiful varieties. Blooms second season from seed. Is very slow to germinate. Pkt. 50c.

Hardy Garden Pinks

575 Perpetual-flowering, Clove-scented. A new race of hardy garden Pinks producing an abundance of very large, richly scented flowers, white, rose-pink, crimson, all showing a definite eye of a darker shade. Very handsome and desirable for borders and cutting. 16 inches. Pkt. 25 cts.

For other flowers known as "Pinks," see Dianthus, page 18, and Carnations, page 14.

PLATYCODON. Splendid hardy perennials bearing cup-shaped flowers of blue and white. Especially useful to follow Canterbury Bells, as they are similar in effect and bloom later. They require a full season's growth to become well established and should be disturbed as little as possible thereafter.

- 1111 Blue. Fine, large, steel-blue flowers. Pkt. 25 cts.
1112 White. Clean, bright, and unusually effective. Pkt. 25 cts.

PRIMULA. Primroses. Spring and summer-flowering perennials of utmost beauty and adaptability.

1122 Polyantha. Polyanthus Primrose. A strain of pure white varieties, an unusual separation in this spring flower. Pkt. 40 cts.

1123 New Hybrids, Mixed. This mixture is composed of crosses of the famous Primula pulverulenta strains with P. Beesiana, P. Bulleyana, and P. Cockburniana, producing a remarkably extended range of color—rose, pink, orange, scarlet, purple, mauve, lilac. Hardy perennials reaching 2 feet in height. Pkt. 50c.

PORTULACA. An invaluable hardy annual for making a carpet of brilliant color, for edgings, for rockwork, or anywhere a mass of glowing color is wanted. The flowers open only in sunshine.

1171 Single-flowering. A splendid color mixture. Pkt. 10 cts.

1172 Double-flowering. Flowers resemble perfect little roses of brightest and richest shades. Pkt. 15 cts.

PYRETHRUM. Variable plants, some valued for their charming foliage and some for their graceful, daisy-like flowers. Hardy perennials.

1181 Selaginoides. A charming variety of the Golden-feather, with bright yellow leaves elegantly crimped and arched. 6 inches high. Pkt. 10 cts.

1182 New Golden Moss. The charm of this plant lies in its dwarf, fern-like, golden yellow foliage, which makes it particularly useful for edging and carpet bedding. Pkt. 50 cts.

1183 Roseum, Double, Finest Mixed Hybrids. Saved from the finest, best, named, double-flowering sorts, in shades of crimson, rose, pink, blush, white, and cream. About 60 per cent come double. 2 feet high. Pkt. 50 cts.

Single Hybrid Pyrethrums

1184 Roseum, Single Hybrids, Mixed. Bright-colored single varieties, by many thought to be more graceful and effective than the double sorts. Very useful in the border and for cutting. Pkt. 25 cts.

RICINUS. Castor-Oil Plant. Strong tropical species with picturesque form and foliage. Good for bold groups and semi-tropical effects.

1201 Africanus. Large foliage and stems and fruit of silvery green. 5 feet high. Pkt. 10 cts.

1202 Sanguineus. Red stems; large green leaves with red ribs; dark red fruits in big bunches. 5 to 6 feet high. Pkt. 10 cts.

RHODANTHE. See Straw-flowers, page 33.

Salvia

Useful decorative plants blooming until frost from seed sown early in spring. All are perennial but are best treated as tender annuals. Their flowers are characteristically borne in long, slender spikes which arch gracefully above the bushy foliage.

1212 Patens. Blue Salvia. Long spikes of gentian-blue flowers. A very popular bedding variety. Pkt. 25 cts.

1214 Farinacea. Perennial Salvia. Spikes of soft lavender blooms of the utmost decorative value in border and beds. Plant it freely with the lemon-colored African Marigolds. 2½ to 3 feet high. Pkt. 15 cts.

1211 Splendens, Triumph. An extra-early flowering type of this popular annual, bearing the longest and finest spikes of rich velvety scarlet yet developed. 2½ feet. Pkt. 25 cts.

Salvia splendens

Scabiosa

Large-flowered Sweet Scabious; Mourning Bride. Very graceful flowers in quiet, harmonious colors, supremely adapted for cutting because of their long, wiry stems. Also excellent for garden effect in borders, continuing in flower from midsummer until frost. 2½ to 3 feet high.

1242 Azure Fairy. A very lovely new color of rich pale blue almost the same shade as the lovely perennial Scabiosa caucasica. The flowers are very large. Pkt. 15 cts.

1245 Fiery Scarlet. 1249 Rose. 1250 Yellow. 1251 Pure White. 1252 All Colors Mixed.

Any of above, pkt. 10 cts., ¼oz. 25 cts.

1255 caucasica. A very handsome perennial with large flowers of a fine deep lavender color. 2 feet high. Pkt. 25 cts.

SCHIZANTHUS. Butterfly Flower. Branching plants which cover themselves with a cloud of flowers like miniature orchids. Sown in early spring and set out in May, they make effective border plants in early summer. They need sunshine and plenty of water at all times.

1261 Giant Prize Strain. All the newest exquisite variations of color in flowers of extraordinary size and delicacy. Pkt. 35 cts.

1263 Rose and Amber Shades. Specially selected art shades of pink, rose, and amber, blotched with gold. An especially charming blend of colors. Pkt. 25 cts.

Imperial Salpiglossis

An improved strain developed by Vilmorin, a famous seed-grower of France. These gorgeous, velvety flowers delight in a rich, sandy soil, in a sunny place. They may be started early and set out or be sown where they are to flower. Do not allow them to crowd, and give lots of water. Splendid for cut-flowers.

1233 All Colors Mixed. Beautiful mixture containing Crimson, Purple, Rose, Scarlet, Violet, Yellow, Blue, and Brown. All finely veined with gold. One of the most superb bedding plants. Pkt. 25 cts.

Stocks

These are the true Gillyflowers of England, where they are most popular for bedding, pots, and for cut-flowers, both on account of their beauty and their splendid fragrance. For a succession of bloom, sow at intervals from early March until the last of May. They produce 70 to 75 per cent double flowers; the singles may be detected when quite young and discarded.

GIANT PERFECTION. Robust branching plants 1½ feet high, with large, handsome flowers over a long period. Blooms from July to autumn if sown early.

1301 Mixed. Blue and white. Pkt. 15 cts.

Straw-Flowers

NOBODY claims that Straw-flowers are the most beautiful things in the world, but they are a jolly and a likeable set. People often think they are all alike, when really there are a lot of different colors and shapes. They may be stiff and brittle and dry, but they do sprinkle bits of summer sunshine into the dullness of winter with an invincible and optimistic cheer.

We would like you to try the unusual kinds. They are easy to grow, and worthy.

HELICHRYSUMS. These are the gay flowers usually seen in winter bouquets. Unusual colors, Canary, Rose, White, Salmon, Carmine, and Violet, with others, are offered on page 17.

Zinnias

Doubtless everybody enjoys the Zinnias. Even the old-fashioned sour-colored ones were so dependable, so easy to grow, and so cheerful of disposition that they were universally planted. But the old-fashioned Zinnias have passed, and the new types have been developed into incredible blooms of various types and sizes in all the most charming and most brilliant colors.

NEW DAHLIA-FLOWERED. This special and world-awakening strain originated in America and has captured the imagination of the world. In July, 1924, the Royal Horticultural Society of England granted an "Award of Merit" and a Gold Medal for the Dahlia-flowered Zinnias exhibited in the London exhibition. This official recognition of an American product means that it must be superlatively good.

1467 Special Gold Medal Mixture. A mixture of the named varieties described on page 36. Pkt. 25 cts.

PICOTEE. An odd type having each petal outlined by a contrasting color. The range of hues is similar to the Double Giants, and about 70 per cent show the characteristic picotee edge. A most interesting novelty, useful to provide variety in the section of the garden devoted to Zinnias but they are especially adapted for use as cut-flowers.

1471 Golden Pheasant. Yellow ground, edged maroon. Pkt. 25 cts.

1472 All Colors Mixed. Includes the very new white and scarlet shades. Pkt. 25 cts.

XERANTHEMUM. See Straw-flowers, page 33.

*A garden is a lovesome thing, God wot!
 Rose plot,
 Fringed pool,
 Ferned grot—
 The veriest school
 Of peace; and yet the fool
 Contends that God is not.
 Not God, in gardens! when the eve is cool?
 Nay, but I have a sign:
 'Tis very sure God walks in mine.*

—THOMAS EDWARD BROWN.

Zinnias

THE common Zinnias of yesteryear have gone for good, and, without losing their robust strength or their eagerness to grow and bloom, the modern Zinnias have acquired a greater size, an elegance of form, and a refinement of texture in fitting with their new and sparkling colors.

The New California Dahlia-flowered Zinnias are the finest of this modern type, either for massing in beds or for cut-flowers. They are the "last word" in these noble annuals. Separate colors, pkt. 25 cts.

1451 Exquisite. Truly Dahlia-flowered. Light rose-pink, with a darker center.

1452 Old Rose. A shadowy rose tint of utmost charm. We like it tremendously.

1453 Illumination. A bold, striking, dark rose-pink of a vivid shade.

1454 Golden State. Opens cadmium-yellow, becoming gorgeous orange.

1455 Crimson Monarch. Gigantic flowers sometimes 8 inches across. Rich red.

1456 Giant Attraction. Blazing brick-red blooms of enormous size.

1457 Scarlet Flame. Bright scarlet, blended with glowing orange.

1458 Meteor. Dark, radiant red, perhaps the darkest of the red shades.

1459 Lemon Beauty. Golden yellow, heavily overlaid upon a soft brown base.

1460 Oriole. A variable, changeable beauty of commingled orange.

1461 Dream. A pure shade of mallow-purple and lavender.

1462 Purple Prince. Rich, dark purple blooms of handsome form.

1463 Polar Bear. Perhaps the best white Zinnia of true dahlia form; very clear.

1464 Buttercup. Rich, creamy yellow flowers of immense size and perfect form.

1465 Canary Bird. A delicate tint of primrose-yellow which does not fade.

1466 Any 5 varieties $1; all 15 for $3.

Beautiful Modern Gladiolus

New Giant Varieties

For favored spots in your garden you may select these "jewel-like" New Giants. They grow 6 feet tall and are very beautiful. I am certain that you will be more than pleased with them. The prices are very moderate here, and I therefore invite liberal purchases.

Captain Boynton. Beautiful lavender; giant flowers on 6-foot, upright stem. 17 cts. each, $1.40 for 10, $13 per 100.

Los Angeles. Soft salmon-pink, with glowing orange blotch; tall and graceful. 12 cts. each, 90 cts. for 10, $8 per 100.

Mrs. Leon Douglas. Begonia-rose, striped flaming scarlet; lower petals lemon-yellow, spotted ruby-red. Enormous flowers. Each stem has several side shoots forming a huge bouquet. 20 cts. each, $1.70 for 10, $16 per 100.

Giant Nymph. Rose-pink with yellow center. Enormous flowers on 6-foot stem. 12 cts. each, $1 for 10, $9 per 100.

NEW GIANT VARIETIES, continued

Purple Glory. Deep maroon-purple; unusually large ruffled flowers on 6-foot spike. 16 cts. each, $1.30 for 10, $12 per 100.

Rex. Pure deep scarlet, of richest shade. Mammoth flowers on giant stems. Rex is probably the largest and tallest Gladiolus in existence. 40 cts. each, $3.60 for 10, $35 per 100.

Exhibition Mixture

100 BULBS $3.85, postpaid

Guaranteed to contain 20 varieties, in equal quantities—five of each in every hundred—and to consist in every particular of first-class quality.

For handsome colorful masses and for a generous lot of cut-flowers it will pay you to use these bulbs unsparingly.

We sell this mixture only in units of 100 bulbs or multiples thereof.

Roses from Schenley Gardens

AMONG the hundreds of other lovely flowers which we have offered our customers in the past few years, the Queen of all was missing. This was a state of things which could not long endure. Roses have a way of demanding entrance to gardens and to catalogues. They are truly royal, and we must obey their will.

In order to make it easy for our customers to become acquainted with the quality of the Roses we sell, we are making three offers on the next few pages: One of a dozen easily grown varieties; one of a dozen varieties chosen for their beauty and other qualities by the experts of the American Rose Society; and a smaller collection of the newest and most highly recommended of the novelties.

Except the last collection, all the Roses we offer are tried and true varieties which we know you will like and which will succeed everywhere if given ordinary care.

June days are flowery days. It is the month of roses.

Beautiful rose! You have maintained your eminence as the queen of flowers almost throughout the whole world. You have decked the tables and homes of the Greek, the Egyptian, and the American since their histories began. You have been the emblem of peace as well as of war. You have been hung in the council chambers as a command for secrecy. You have entered our language in many forms—prosperity is expressed as “a bed of roses”; cordiality is extended to our friends when we tell them they are as welcome “as the roses in June”; bright hopes are described as “roseate”; beauty in complexion is called “rosy”; philosophically we speak of the bitter-sweets of life by the saying “every rose has its thorn.” In the song “’Tis the last rose of summer,” how well we express the fact that “parting is such sweet sorrow.” You dominate our gardens, for no one thinks a garden complete without some roses. You climb our porches, our arches, cover the bare soil, deck our tables, and grace our weddings. You speak a language universally understood, but not spoken by any other flower.

I believe you are so human that we love you. With all your virtues, you have your faults, just as we do. You will not grow perfectly without care, for you are troubled with pests, and you have thorns. You have a willful way of growing as you desire, not the way we want you. You are like a capricious child—we never understand you, and for this reason we are ever striving for you. You coax us to love you for your form, your subtle fragrance, your faults.

Said Sappho in days long past:

“The rose mankind will all agree
The rose the queen of flowers shall be;
Its fragrance charms the gods above,
Its beauty is the food of love.”

And several years ago Frank Stanton quaintly wrote:

“This old world that we’re livin’ in
Is mighty hard to beat.
You get a thorn with every rose
But—ain’t the roses sweet?”

DO YOU cut your garden flowers? When are flowers the more lovely—when growing in a garden border or when artfully arranged in a favorite basket or jar? Surely, they are equally admirable. And yet, are not the fair blossoms more truly our own when we have not only grown them but have chosen them to combine the charms of various sorts into a gay bouquet? “We can not have our cake and eat it.” Nevertheless, cake is for eating, songs for singing, and flowers for cutting.

Hybrid Tea Roses

Betty. Very long, slender, coppery pink buds, opening to broad, semi-double, pale buff-yellow flowers tinted with pink on the outside. Plants are very vigorous, with extremely large, smooth foliage, and blooms continuously from early summer until frost. 85 cts. each, $8.50 per doz.

Betty Uprichard. Bright-colored, semi-double flowers of glowing coppery red on the outside of the petals and bright salmon-pink on the inside. Plants are very vigorous and free-flowering, blooming continuously from early in the season until frost. This is one of the most vigorous varieties known and is well liked because of its informal shape and brilliant color. $1.25 each, $12 per doz.

Briarcliff. A fine, massive flower of rich, glowing pink, borne on long, stout stems. It is a variation from Columbia and generally considered to be an improvement. 85 cts. each, $8.50 per doz.

Charles K. Douglas. Rather large, semi-double, sparkling, light red flowers which are very freely produced on bushy, stiff-stemmed plants. This is one of the most prolific bedding Roses and a great favorite with most. 80 cts. each, $8 per doz.

Crimson Queen. Slender, dark red buds and bright red, semi-double flowers which are abundantly produced. 80 cts. each, $8 per doz.

Dame Edith Helen. See page 47.

Duchess of Wellington. Long, slender, saffron-yellow buds heavily stained with coppery yellow, opening to immense, semi-double, pale yellow blooms of great beauty. The plants are strong-growing but rather spreading, and bloom abundantly throughout the season. 85 cts. each, $8.50 per doz.

Ecarlate. A dwarf, shrubby Rose which is completely covered throughout the season with brilliant, rosy scarlet, semi-double flowers of informal shape. Splendid variety for massing to produce a bright red color effect. 80 cts. each, $8 per doz.

Etoile de France. Plump, pointed buds of dark velvety crimson, opening to very double, brilliant crimson flowers of moderate size and delicious fragrance. The plants are slender but bushy and bloom profusely throughout the season. Flowers especially good in the autumn. 85 cts. each, $8.50 per doz.

SPECIAL OFFER!

Twelve Superlative Everblooming Hybrid Tea

ROSES

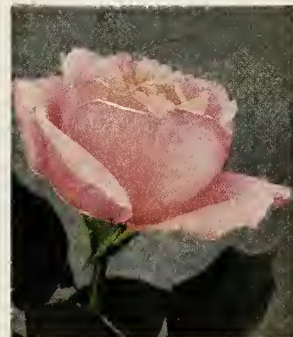

In the 1929 Annual of the American Rose Society, twenty-four expert Rose-growers listed their favorite Roses. In those lists the 12 Roses pictured on this page received the most general approbation.

We are proud to be able to assemble so fine a list of Roses into a Special Offer in order that all may enjoy them as much as the “Experts” do.

We will send one plant each of these 12 Roses for $10.75, postpaid.

Full descriptions of these varieties will be found on pages 41, 44, and 45.

Los Angeles Rose

Etoile de Hollande. Glowing, crimson-scarlet buds and blooms of lovely shape and rich fragrance. The plants are strong and free-flowering. This is generally considered the best red garden Rose and is very popular. $1.70 each, $17 per doz.

Feu Joseph Looymans. See page 47.

Gruss an Teplitz. An old favorite variety with rather small, double, dark, velvety scarlet flowers, produced abundantly on very vigorous, tall plants from the beginning of the season until frost. This variety is much more of a shrub than any other Hybrid Tea, and does best when planted alone or in the background against other shrubs. 80 cts. each, $8 per doz.

Jonkheer J. L. Mock. Gigantic buds of dark, glowing pink, with immense, very double flowers of thick, recurving petals, with an inner surface of silvery pink. One of the handsomest Roses grown, and very popular with some gardeners. 85 cts. each, $8.50 per doz.

Kaiserin Auguste Viktoria. Very handsome, double flowers of pure white, tinted with lemon-yellow in the center. The petals have a firm, waxy texture uncommon in garden Roses. The plants grow to a moderate height and bloom steadily throughout the season. 85 cts. each, $8.50 per doz.

La France. Very double flowers of pretty silvery pink, with very many symmetrically arranged petals, delightfully curled. It has the sweetest fragrance of any Rose grown, and most Rose-lovers can recognize it by its fragrance alone. The plant is strong, and when happy produces its delicious flowers throughout the season. 85 cts. each, $8.50 per doz.

Lady Alice Stanley. Large, massive, very double flowers, with many overlapping petals, dark rose-pink on the outside and silvery pink on the inside. The stems are very stout, making it excellent for cutting, and the foliage is large, rough, and free from disease. One of the finest Roses grown and very popular with all well-informed amateurs. 85 cts. each, $8.50 per doz.

Lady Ashtown. Fine, pointed buds of brilliant rose-pink, opening to medium-sized, high-centered flowers of delightful shape and brilliance of color. Plants are erect, of moderate vigor, and bloom without ceasing from early summer until frost. One of the most dependable pink Roses, and generally found in the gardens of all good growers. $1 each, $10 per doz.

Lady Margaret Stewart. Slender, pointed buds and blooms of dark golden yellow, splashed with crimson and copper on the outside. A very handsome and well-shaped flower borne on tall, stiff stems. $2 each, $20 per doz.

Los Angeles. Large, rich pink buds, shaded with yellow, opening to exquisitely shaped flowers of bright flame-pink suffused with gold; exceedingly fragrant. This is one of the most beautiful Roses grown, and is exceedingly popular wherever it does well. It can be depended upon to make a splendid display the first season. $1 each, $10 per doz.

Miss Rowena Thom. See page 47.

Mme. Butterfly. Pale pink buds and blooms, shaded with golden yellow and paling to white at the edges; sweetly fragrant and beautifully shaped. The flowers are borne on long, strong stems suitable for cutting, and the plants are sufficiently vigorous to bear heavy crops of bloom throughout the entire season. This variety is a little more richly colored than Ophelia, which it resembles in other respects. $1 each, $10 per doz.

Mme. Caroline Testout. Large, ovoid buds and bright, globular flowers of silvery pink, produced in great abundance on strong, healthy, everblooming plants. A favorite variety which has been popular for many years. 85 cts. each, $8.50 per doz.

Mme. Edouard Herriot. Brilliant coppery red buds, opening to large, semi-double, brick-red blooms which change quickly to orange-pink and coppery yellow of a most astonishing shade. Plants are more than usually vigorous and bloom abundantly. One of the showiest Roses in existence. 85 cts. each, $8.50 per doz.

Mme. Jules Bouche. Medium-sized, well-shaped, white flowers, lightly tinted with pink at the center. The plants are unusually strong-growing, 3 to 4 feet high, and continuously in bloom throughout the season. This is generally conceded to be the best white Hybrid Tea for general use. $1 each, $10 per doz.

DO NOT HESITATE TO CUT ALL THE ROSES YOU WANT

Mrs. Aaron Ward. Rather small buds and flowers of charming shape, dark saffron-yellow in the buds, changing to creamy yellow tinted with blush. The plants are dwarf and spreading, with holly-like foliage, and continue in bloom throughout the season. A very popular garden Rose which has been widely planted. 85 cts. each, $8.50 per doz.

Mrs. Charles Bell. A Rose of the Radiance family, and like that variety in habit of growth, abundance of bloom, and shape of flowers, but the color is soft shell-pink of an exquisite shade not found in other Roses. A very popular sort usually planted with Radiance and Red Radiance because of the similarity of habit. $1 each, $10 per doz.

Mrs. C. W. Edwards. See page 47.

Mrs. Erskine Pembroke Thom. See page 47.

Mrs. Henry Bowles. See page 47.

Mrs. Henry Morse. Double, well-shaped, fragrant flowers of two distinct shades of pink, borne on low, spreading bushes of excellent habit and fine foliage. An unusually fine pink Rose, much better than many of the older pink varieties. $1 each, $10 per doz.

Ophelia. Well-shaped buds and delightfully tinted flowers of white, pale pink, and gold, produced very freely on excellent plants with stiff stems. One of the most popular Roses grown, and found in almost every garden. 80 cts. each, $8 per doz.

Radiance. This is the original pink variety which has achieved so great popularity throughout the country. The plant is unusually strong, with fine, firm stems bearing large, globular, bright pink blooms tinted somewhat lighter as the petals recurve. It has many times been voted the most popular Rose in America, and many gardens are planted exclusively with this variety and Red Radiance. 85 cts. each, $8.50 per doz.

Red Radiance. Handsome, sturdy bushes producing long canes bearing large, dark pink or light red flowers of good shape and excellent fragrance. Because of its splendid habit and free-blooming qualities, it is one of the most popular Roses grown, and many thousands of it are planted every year. Highly recommended. 85 cts. each, $8.50 per doz.

Rev. F. Page-Roberts. Marvelously beautiful flowers of rich golden yellow, splashed with coppery pink on the bud and the outer petals; deliciously fragrant. Plants are of moderate growth and bloom freely, especially in the cool days of autumn. $1.70 each, $17 per doz.

Sensation. Immense, dark velvety crimson, fragrant flowers, sometimes shaded with blackish purple. Plants are erect, with stout stems and unusually free-blooming for this type of Rose. $1 each, $10 per doz.

Sir David Davis. See page 47.

Souv. de Claudius Pernet. Strong, lemon-yellow buds and blooms of excellent shape, borne on vigorous plants with handsome, glossy, dark green foliage. This was the first really successful, hardy, ever-blooming yellow Rose, and is still more widely grown than any other. 85 cts. each, $8.50 per doz.

Souv. de Georges Pernet. Very large buds and bloom of bright orange-pink of an intensely vivid shade. The plants are very sturdy, bearing the blooms stiffly erect. This variety is very much in favor for large masses in the garden, and keeps fairly well when cut. $1 each, $10 per doz.

Sunburst. Beautifully shaped buds and rich, golden yellow flowers paling as they open and delightfully fragrant. The plants are wiry and quite free-blooming. 85 cts. each, $8.50 per doz.

Talisman. See page 46.

William F. Dreer. Beautifully formed buds and flowers of salmon-yellow, sometimes richly tinted with pink. One of the most beautiful varieties of Roses grown. 85 cts. each, $8.50 per doz.

Willowmere. Long, pointed buds of bright, glowing pink, tinted heavily with yellow at the base of the petals, so that the flowers seem to be a little lighter on the inside. The open blooms are well-shaped and borne on sturdy stems. The plants are vigorous, and very free-flowering, beginning early in the season and continuing until frost. 85 cts. each, $8.50 per doz.

*All material in this catalogue is delivered postpaid.
Terms cash with order.*

Lady Alice Stanley

Talisman. A remarkable new Rose of brilliant golden yellow splashed with scarlet-yellow in the bud, and blended and shaded with bright scarlet-pink in the open flower. In hot weather the colors are much lighter. No Rose in recent years has been such a tremendous success, both as a cut-flower and as a garden variety. $1.85 each, $18.50 per doz., postpaid.

NEW ROSES

Miss Rowena Thom

Very large, beautifully shaped blooms of dark, glowing pink, with a fiery suffusion of orange-gold at the base of the petals. Plants have all the vigor of Radiance, and it promises to be one of the finest varieties of Roses grown. $1.85 each, $18 per doz.

Mrs. Erskine Pembroke Thom

A rich yellow Rose of finer color and better shape than Souv. de Claudius Pernet. Considered by all good growers to be the finest yellow Rose in the country. Plants are free-flowering, very vigorous, and quite healthy. $1.60 each, $16 per doz.

Mrs. Henry Bowles

Fine, ovoid buds and very large, pointed, fragrant flowers of dark glowing pink of an extremely pure and unadulterated shade, borne on long, stiff stems by vigorous, healthy bushes. One of the finest garden Roses introduced in many years, and exceedingly popular with all who have grown it. $1.50 each, $15 per doz.

Sir David Davis

Bright red buds and flowers of medium size and not too many petals, sometimes shaded with velvety black, borne most abundantly by tall, sturdy plants with excellent foliage. This variety has rapidly come to the front as one of the best red Roses grown. $1.50 each, $15 per doz.

Dame Edith Helen

A new variety with astonishingly large buds and very double, beautifully shaped flowers of pure, even pink, borne on sturdy, strong stems by excellent plants. This variety is extremely well liked by all who have grown it, and promises to be very popular. $1.60 each, $16 per doz.

Feu Joseph Looymans

Long, slender, dark golden yellow buds opening to large, semi-double blooms of great depth and beauty. The plants are vigorous, with remarkably fine, glossy foliage, and bloom continuously all season. $1.60 each, $16 per doz.

Mrs. C. W. Edwards

Bright, glowing, cerise-red flowers of a peculiarly brilliant shade which shows up well in the garden. Plants are bushy and free-flowering. $1.50 each, $15 per doz.

CLIMBING ROSES ARE EASIER TO GROW THAN ANY OTHER KIND

Baby Roses (Polyanthas)

These are dwarf, bushy plants which bear enormous clusters of small, double flowers all summer long. They are excellent for massing in solid beds, low hedges, or edging borders of other Roses and shrubs. We offer them in three colors: Red, White, and Pink. 75 cts. each, $7.50 per doz.

GOLDEN SALMON. This is a new Polyantha Rose of very different color from any heretofore seen. The clusters are very large and the flowers are intense orange-scarlet, heavily shaded with yellow and salmon. We know of no other Rose, or, in fact, of any other plant so brilliant in color and so lasting. $1.50 each, $15 per doz.

Climbing Roses

American Pillar. Produces very long, sturdy canes, clothed with brilliant, shining foliage which keeps its handsome appearance throughout the season. The flowers are large, single, brilliant pink, illuminated by a white eye and golden stamens. They are produced in such profusion as to completely cover the plant. This is one of the handsomest and showiest climbing Roses in existence. 65 cts. each, $6.50 per doz.

Climbing American Beauty. A moderately growing climber reaching 10 to 15 feet, and bearing large, very handsomely shaped, very fragrant flowers of bright purple-red quite early in the season. Excellent variety for training over a large arch or as a pillar, and one of the most popular Roses in the world. 65 cts. each, $6.50 per doz.

Dorothy Perkins. Very strong-growing Rose, producing many long, slender canes reaching 20 feet or more in length. The flowers are small, double, bright shell-pink, and are produced in prodigal abundance. This has long been one of the most popular climbing Roses and is especially useful for training along fences and walls and climbing over arches. 65 cts. each, $6.50 per doz.

Dr. W. Van Fleet. Another very vigorous climber with strong canes reaching 15 feet or more, and bearing very large, handsomely shaped, pale pink flowers in great profusion. The flowers have all the beauty of a hothouse Rose bought in the florists' shops, and are borne on long stems which make them ideal for cutting. This is considered by many people to be the finest hardy climbing Rose in existence. 65 cts. each, $6.50 per doz.

Excelsa. The plants are very vigorous and wiry, of much the same habit as Dorothy Perkins, and bear large clusters of brilliant rose-red flowers in the same abundance. This variety has long been recommended as a substitute for the once very popular Crimson Rambler, and is useful for all the purposes to which climbing Roses are adapted. 65 cts. each, $6.50 per doz.

Gardenia. Very strong-growing variety with brownish stems and marvelously beautiful foliage, especially in the spring. It produces beautiful buds and exquisite, well-shaped white blooms tinted with cream. 65 cts. each, $6.50 per doz.

Paul's Scarlet Climber. The plant is healthy and robust but grows rather short (10 to 12 feet high), and buries itself in enormous, fine, well-shaped, intense scarlet flowers. This is the most vivid and showiest climbing Rose, and is, perhaps, the most popular of all in this country. It is best adapted for growing on a low arch or pillar. 65 cts. each, $6.50 per doz.

Primrose. A new variety introduced last year. It is of excellent growth and has very handsome foliage. The buds are rich yellow and the double flowers are deep canary-yellow and do not fade. It has aroused great enthusiasm wherever it has been seen, and promises to be the best hardy yellow Rose in commerce. $1.75 each, $17.50 per doz.

Silver Moon. One of the strongest-growing Roses in existence, reaching 25 to 30 feet in a season. Handsome, large, dark glossy green foliage. The buds are very long, creamy white tinted with yellow, and open into immense, semi-double, milk-white blooms. 65 cts. each, $6.50 per doz.

Hybrid Perpetual Roses

Frau Karl Druschki. Very large snow-white flowers sometimes tinted with pink in the bud, produced continuously from early summer until late autumn. This is by far the finest white Rose of any class, and is much more popular than any other. The plants are healthy, vigorous, and free-flowering. 85 cts. each, $8.50 per doz.

General Jacqueminot. Glowing crimson-red flowers, beautifully shaped and deliciously fragrant. Very free-blooming in June and again in autumn. Plants are strong and healthy. This is an old variety which has been greatly cherished by Rose-lovers for many, many years. 85 cts. each, $8.50 per doz.

Georg Arends. Flowers are very large, with deep, well-shaped petals of a tender shade of rose-pink. One of the most exquisitely beautiful of all Roses. Plants grow vigorously, blooming profusely in June and then again in autumn. 85c. each, $8.50 per doz.

Mme. Albert Barbier. Apricot-yellow and buff-pink buds, opening to creamy white, deep, medium-sized, double blooms shaded with old-gold and buff-rose in the center. The plants are dwarf, stocky, and very prolific, producing flowers from early summer until late autumn. One of the most valuable of the recent introductions in the Hybrid Perpetual class, and highly praised by all who have grown it. $1.25 each, $12.50 per doz.

Mrs. John Laing. Cup-shaped, double, intensely fragrant, soft rose-pink flowers borne on long, leafy stems. Plants are very vigorous and extremely prolific, continuing in bloom from early summer until late autumn. This is conceded to be one of the most valuable Hybrid Perpetuals. $1 each, $10 per doz.

Ulrich Brunner. Large, loose, globular blooms of bright purple-red and intensely fragrant. Plants are tall-growing, and extremely floriferous, burying themselves in large clusters of bloom. An early summer variety; very showy and decorative. 85 cts. each, $8.50 per doz.

Bleeding Heart (Dicentra spectabilis)

Bleeding Heart (Dicentra spectabilis)

Delightful, old-fashioned plants, with upright sprays of light green foliage and long, arching racemes of bright pink, heart-shaped flowers in early spring. Most handsome for partly shaded or sunny places, and comparatively rare. We have fine, strong plants at 75 cts. each, $7.50 per doz.

Montbretias

Have you ever wanted gladiolus that were not so grossly, crassly gorgeous? Flowers of similar type that were lighter, more graceful, and that would really mix in a bouquet with other flowers?

If you have, the Montbretias fulfil that wish. In general habit they resemble gladiolus, but the plants are smaller and the flower-spikes are graceful, with delicately recurved, bell-like flowers in many shades of yellow, orange, and red.

They are much hardier than gladiolus and may be left in the ground over winter, if mulched heavily with manure or leaves.

We offer a selection of the choice new varieties much superior to the old sorts:

Cræsus. Very large, apricot-yellow flowers. Plants 24 inches tall. One of the finest; late-flowering. $2 for 10, $18 per 100.

Etoile de Feu. Graceful, soft red flowers lit with an orange throat. Grows 24 inches tall. $1.50 for 10, $12 per 100.

Meteor. Orange flowers, tipped with red. A very prolific and early flowering variety. $1 for 10, $9 per 100.

MONTBRETIAS, continued

Rheingold. Large, starry flowers of pure golden yellow. Grows 24 inches tall. Very fine variety. $1.75 for 10, $16 per 100.

Fine Mixture. Many varieties and colors. 90 cts. for 10, $8 per 100.

Lily-of-the-Valley

Sweetest of the tiny flowers of spring, with sprays of clustered white bells nestling in the enfolding leaves to be petted and treasured. They are tough as weeds, enduring dry, shady places and making a pleasant ground-cover when they are out of bloom.

However, they repay fertilizing and watering, and should be reset every second or third year in order to get the largest number and finest quality of flowers and spikes.

We have fine strong roots, each one of which should throw a bloom this year, and continue indefinitely.

Look around for a shady, unused corner and fill it with these lovely flowers. $1.25 for bundle of 25 roots, $4.50 per 100.

Yellow Calla Lily

The common white Calla used to be everybody's pot-plant, but the superb yellow Callas seen in the flower shows every spring are equally easy to have, with the same sort of care.

They are exquisite bedding plants. The bulbs should be treated the same as Gladiolus and you will have a wealth of golden yellow Lilies and fine foliage. 35 cts. each, $3 for 10, $28 per 100.

Giant Hybrid Amaryllis

WE doubt whether any plant can afford more enjoyment and excitement with less trouble than an Amaryllis. The great bulbs need only to be potted in rich soil, kept slightly moist until the flower-buds show, and then watered freely for a few weeks until the gigantic cluster of brilliant flowers flies open like a living explosion of color which lasts for many days.

Our bulbs are full size, well ripened, and will produce flowers of all shades from nearly white to deep crimson, some pink, some salmon, some starred and striped and otherwise variegated. 75 cts. each, $6.50 for 10.

AMARYLLIS JOHNSONI. This is an old favorite dark red variety with a white stripe in each petal. It is hardy in the South and may be grown outdoors there. 50 cts. each, $4 for 10.

AMARYLLIS EQUESTERIS. A blazing red variety of smooth, solid color. It is a splendid pot-plant and valuable for planting outdoors in the South. 35 cts. each, $3 for 10.

CRINUM FIMBRIATULUM. Milk and Wine Lily. A favorite flower much like amaryllis in habit and treatment, but the flowers are white with a rich lavender stripe on each petal. 35 cts. each, $3 for 10.

Gay-Flowered Cannas (Illustrated above)

Very popular for showy beds or for isolated clumps in the perennial border, making fine tropical foliage, surmounted by spikes of handsome flowers. Cultivation same as for dahlias.

Candelabra. Bears torch-like flame of orange-scarlet flowers. 25 cts. each, $2 for 10.

King Humbert. Dark, bronzy foliage, and blazing, orange-scarlet flowers. 15 cts. each, $1 for 10.

Rosea Gigantea. Fine, large flowers of rich, soft rose-pink. 25 cts. each, $2 for 10.

The President. Enormous, glowing scarlet flowers in giant trusses. 15 cts. each, $1.20 for 10.

Yellow King Humbert. Large, golden yellow flowers, spotted with red. 15 cts. each, $1 for 10.

Tritoma / Red-Hot Poker

Showy and decorative for sunny borders.

Pfitzeri. Long, full spikes of flame-red flowers. 35 cts. each, $2.50 for 10.

Hybrids. Early-flowering, varying from light orange to dark red. 35 cts. each, $2.50 for 10.

Ranunculus

Showy flowers, somewhat like the anemones on page 6, and requiring the same treatment. Flowers double, like miniature pompon dahlias, in a wide range of color.

Giant French Mixed. Pink, Scarlet, Primrose, White, and Orange. $1 for 10, $9 per 100

Shrubs and Flowering Trees

IN order that a garden may be the restful, recreational place it ought to be, it should have a feeling of quiet and permanence. This is a quality which cannot be given to the garden by herbaceous plants, either annual or perennial, and the fleeting spring bloom of bulbs is the very antithesis of it. The dignity and stability of gardens is dependent upon the shrubs and trees which form its framework. In small gardens, the burden falls upon the shrubs and the flowering trees which are of generally limited stature.

For such small gardens, not all shrubs are suitable. It is necessary to choose plants which will not get out of bounds, varieties which provide attractiveness of outline, foliage, flowers, and fruits throughout most of the year, and which are not too hard to please in their growing requirements.

Needless to say if plants have these qualities, they should be welcome tenants in any garden however large or small. We have chosen the following groups of woody plants, therefore, with these attributes in mind, and feel sure that our friends will find among them shrubs and trees exactly suited to their desires and their accommodations.

All of them require only ordinary care, most of them endure city conditions with impunity, and all of them are attractive the entire year, even when out of flower, by reason of their symmetry of form, excellence of foliage, or attractive fruits.

We recommend them all to your careful consideration.

Bechtel's Crab

A double-flowering form of the native Malus ioensis or Wild Crab Apple. It rivals the Japanese cherries in beauty and profusion of flower and comes much later in the season. The charming, globular flowers are like pretty pink rosebuds at first, and open into charming, gracious, nodding clusters of great beauty. A well-developed Bechtel's Crab is a delightful spectacle, and always the envy of the neighborhood. 2 to 3 ft., $1.45 each, $12 for 10; 3 to 4 ft., $2 each, $17 for 10.

Sargent's Crab

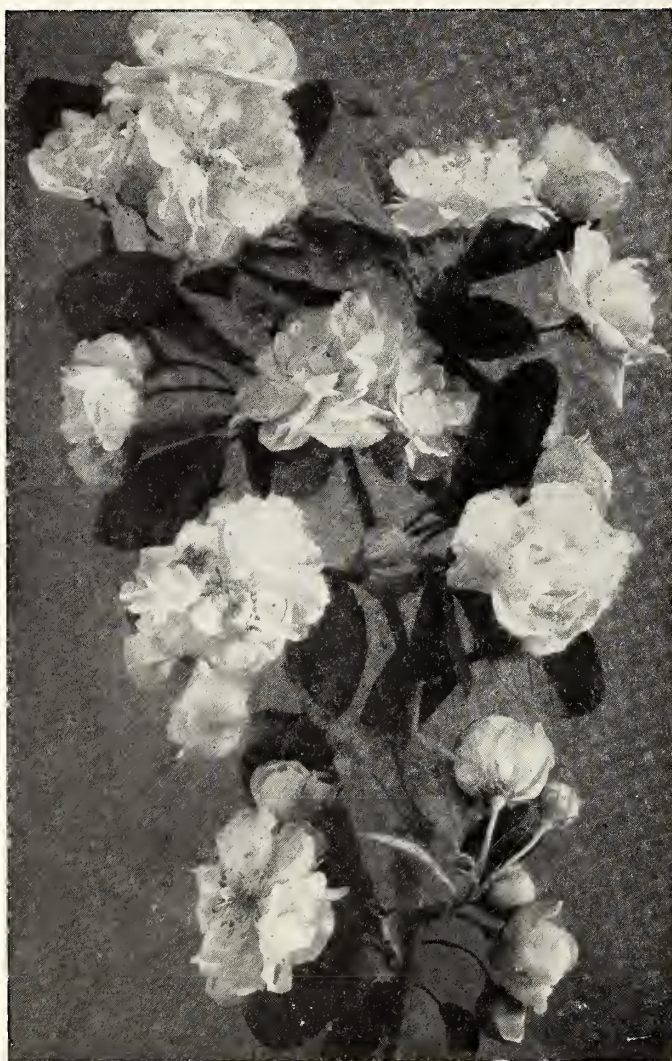

Malus sargentii

This is a dense, twiggy bush 3 to 5 feet high, sometimes a little thorny. It is covered in spring with clusters of milk-white flowers an inch across, which make it an object of supreme beauty. In autumn the glowing, dark red fruits make a handsome show, which continues well into the winter. The foliage is good all season long. 2 to 3 ft., $1.85 each, $18.50 per doz.; 3 to 4 ft., $2 each, $20 per doz.

Paul's Scarlet Thorn

Crataegus oxyacantha splendens

A brilliant scarlet, double-flowering form of the famous English Hawthorn. It makes a small, round-headed, thorny tree of great beauty, even when out of bloom, and is buried in early spring with myriads of small, double, bright red flowers. In autumn its scarlet fruits are conspicuous. A most attractive subject for tall hedges, for specimen use in the lawn, or planting at the edge of taller trees. 3 to 4 ft., $1.85 each, $18.50 per doz.

Bechtel's Flowering Crab

Pink Dogwood

Cornus florida rubra

Everyone knows the common white Dogwood, how it covers itself with snowy beauty in spring and glitters like a Christmas Tree with its scarlet berries in the autumn. The Pink Dogwood which we offer here is even more beautiful, for the large, fluttering flowers are bright rose-pink, and borne in such profusion that the tree is completely hidden. In habit it is the same as the white Dogwood, 15 feet or so high, its foliage is equally good, and its berries just as numerous, and relished by the birds. Fine trees 2 to 3 ft. high, $4 each, $35 for 10.

Hydrangea paniculata grandiflora

One of the most popular shrubs in cultivation. It grows into a fairly large, symmetrical bush 5 to 10 feet high, depending upon age and situation, with broad, handsome leaves and immense heads of snow-white flowers in late summer, which gradually turn to rose-pink as the season advances. It makes a splendid specimen and is frequently used as a dividing hedge where dense, compact growth is not needed. Extremely showy. 2 to 3 ft., 75 cts. each, $7 for 10.

Ibodium Privet

Ligustrum ibodium

This is a remarkable hedge plant, much hardier than the common California Privet which is so frequently damaged in winter. It has the same glossy, almost evergreen foliage, and is just as easily kept in whatever shape is desired. It is considered a great improvement on the ordinary Privet and is highly recommended because of its greater resistance to winter cold. 2 to 3 ft., $1.75 each, $15 for 10.

Beauty Bush

Kolkwitzia amabilis

This is a decided novelty and has created a great sensation wherever it has been seen. The bush is slender-twigged, very graceful, and in spring every twig is laden with small, tubular flowers with flaring throats, making a delicate mass of pink, softly tinted with salmon and fawn-yellow. Before the flowers come, the tiny rose-pink buds, half buried in silky down, give the plant a decorative, beaded appearance, and, after flowering, the small feathery hairs over the seed-pods continue the decorative quality far into the summer. It is extremely hardy and worth planting anywhere. 18 to 24 in., $1.75 each, $17.50 for 12.

All material in this catalogue is delivered post-paid. Terms cash with order.

Pink Dogwood

Korean Spirea

Spiraea trichocarpa

Everyone knows the common Bridal Wreath (Spiraea Vanhouttei) which is so decorative in the garden in late May. The Korean Spirea is similar but has larger flowers, and blooms several weeks later. The plants make large, dome-shaped masses which are completely smothered in white flowers, presenting a most ornamental appearance. This new Spirea was recently brought from Korea where the winters are very severe, and, consequently, it is hardy enough to withstand the most severe winters of the United States. Highly recommended by all who have grown it, and is rapidly becoming one of the most popular shrubs. 18 to 24 in., $1.60 each, $16 for 12.

Red Barberry

Berberis Thunbergi

This is a bright red-leaved form of the Barberry which is so much used for hedges. It is exactly the same in habit and in its brilliant fruits, but the foliage varies from scarlet to maroon throughout the season. It is extremely decorative against a gray stone wall or beside the porch steps or anywhere where showy, ornamental bushes are desired. It must have bright sunshine in order to develop the best color. No shrub of recent introduction has become so quickly popular, and it is in great demand everywhere. 12 to 15 in., 50 cts. each, $5 for 12.

Japanese Cherries

See illustration
on page 55

For more than a thousand years the Japanese have devoted their great gardening skill to the development of the Flowering Cherries of that country. The annual Cherry-blossom Festival is one of the great national holidays of that country, showing the great esteem in which these marvelously beautiful trees are held. The Japanese Cherries are just becoming known in America, chiefly through the two thousand trees which the city of Tokio presented to the Nation some twenty years ago, and which make the city of Washington, where they are planted, the mecca of tourists and flower-lovers every spring when they are in flower.

In habit, the Japanese Cherries are a little larger than the common Sour Cherry and a little less robust than the Sweet Cherry, requiring a circle of about 25 feet in diameter in order to develop to their best proportions. They are most prolific bloomers, producing clusters of single and double flowers in various shades of pink and white, in such profusion that every twig and branch of the trees is buried in blossoms.

They are unsurpassed for use as specimen trees for lawn decoration or for massing against evergreens, and for avenue planting or edging water-courses they are superb. They require no unusual care and are satisfied with the treatment accorded most ordinary trees, coming into bloom when very small and growing in symmetry and abundance of bloom year after year unto an indefinite old age.

ICHIYO (Hizakura). Double, light rose-pink flowers in great abundance. Early. 2 to 3 ft., $2.90 each, $25 for 10.

KWANZAN (Sekizan Zakura; Kansan; Sekiyama). A very bushy variety with large, double, dark pink flowers. Late. Very popular. 2 to 3 ft., $2.25 each, $20 for 10.

FUGENZO (James H. Veitch; Kofugen). Double, dark pink flowers in profusion. Erect, symmetrical tree of splendid habit. One of the most popular. 2 to 3 ft., $2.75 each, $24 for 10; 3 to 4 ft., $3.50 each, $30 for 10.

MIYAKO (Oku-miyako). Double, light pink flowers, nearly white, in fine, drooping clusters. 3 to 4 ft., $3.50 each, $30 for 10.

French Lilacs

See illustration
on page 55

There is something about Lilacs which makes an irresistible appeal to everyone. Even the common old-fashioned sort, which persists so everlastingly about old farmsteads and in old gardens, has a fascination that cannot be resisted. But if it is a favorite, what words can do justice to the enthusiasm and pleasure aroused by the magnificent improved varieties which are known as French Lilacs?

The trusses of flowers are magnificent in size and solidity; the individual flowers, which may be either double or single, are amazing in size, often an inch across; the fragrance is just as alluring; and the colors are marvelously graded from soft purple-pink and white to pale violet and deepest maroon-purple. Besides, even the smallest plants will bloom almost from the time they are set out, so that there is no wearisome waiting for flowers which is so common with small specimens of many other shrubs.

We are offering, this year, a selection of six of the finest varieties, covering a full range of color in single and double types, and urge our friends to become acquainted with them. The enthusiasm for French Lilacs is just beginning in this country, and five years from now, when everybody is madly scrambling to obtain them, your five-year-old trees, laden with bloom, will be prizes indeed.

Their culture is exceedingly simple: The best ground you have, fertilized the best you are able; plenty of water and fertilizer at blooming-time—and forget them the rest of the year. The plants are hardy, are subject to no diseases, and are untroubled by insects. Their foliage is handsome all season long.

CHARLES X. Enormous, long trusses of large, single flowers of deepest maroon-purple. 18 to 24 in., $1.25 each, $12 for 10.

GENERAL PERSHING. Very long, dense trusses of double flowers, dark purple-violet, paler on the underside. 18 to 24 in., $1.25 each, $12 for 10.

MARIE LEGRAYE. Loose clusters of large, single flowers, pale yellow in bud, opening creamy white. 18 to 24 in., $1.25 each, $12 for 10.

MME. LEMOINE. Narrow, compact clusters of small, double flowers, pale yellow in bud, opening pure white. 18 to 24 in., $1.25 each, $12 for 10.

PRESIDENT VIGER. Long, loose clusters of double, pale pinkish purple flowers, shaded with white. 18 to 24 in., $1.25 each, $12 for 10.

SOUVENIR DE LUDWIG SPAETH. Large, narrow clusters of big, single, dark purple flowers, lighter on the outside. 18 to 24 in., $1.25 each, $12 for 10.

Shrub Roses

To many people, Roses are flowers just for cutting and garden bedding. But in the enormous Rose family there are many vigorous varieties which are delightful shrubs, to be used exactly as lilacs, hydrangeas, and other fine bushes of that nature.

For hedge purposes, the thorny nature of the Roses is a distinct deterrent to intruders, and their beauty of flower is unequaled by any other hedge plant.

In the group offered here are two shrub Roses with yellow flowers, the rarest color in Roses, and they are also among the hardiest in severe winters.

The two other varieties are everblooming. That is an advantage which Roses share with no other plant. Clusters of flowers adorn these bushes from earliest summer until freezing weather. They also are extremely hardy.

Rosa Hugonis

This wild Rose from the Himalaya Mountains makes a big, fountain-like bush of fine, twiggly stems, with small leaves and many thorns. In early May, it produces yard-long sprays of pale yellow, single Roses which are so closely crowded on the stems that they seem to be solid masses of bloom. It is extremely gay and cheerful in the garden and is one of the first Roses to bloom. Everybody likes it. 75 cts. each, $7.50 per doz.

Rosa Hugonis

Rose, F. J. Grootendorst

A stout, thorny plant reaching 5 to 7 feet, with broad, wrinkled, shining green leaves, amongst which nestle clusters of bright red flowers shaped like small carnations. It is a continuous bloomer, always bearing a few flowers from early spring until freezing weather, and is one of the finest hedge plants and border shrubs we know. 75 cts. each, $7.50 per doz.

Rose, Pink Grootendorst

Exactly like F. J. Grootendorst, except that the flowers are soft shell-pink of an exquisite shade. Equally valuable for hedge and border use. $1.25 each, $12.50 per doz.

Rose, Harison's Yellow

A fine, old-fashioned yellow Rose, familiar to all who have lived in the country, where it was widely planted years ago and remains to beautify many old dooryards and gardens. It grows 5 to 6 feet tall and as much through, and about the end of May covers itself with bright yellow, semi-double, fragrant flowers of great beauty. This is the best absolutely hardy yellow Rose in the world, and makes a splendid border shrub and a fine, informal hedge. 85 cts. each, $8.50 per doz.

Japanese Iris are the most gorgeous of all Irises. They come into bloom after the German Iris have gone, prolonging the season several weeks. They like rich, moist soil, even swampy places, but will thrive under ordinary garden conditions, providing they have full sunlight and plenty of water at blooming-time. For cutting they are superb, a single spike making a decorative effect unequaled by any other flower. They have long been a flower for connoisseurs, but are rapidly becoming popular.

ALL LILIES ARE WORTH GROWING AND MANY ARE SUPERB

New Delights for Every Garden Owner

SOME OF THE CHOICEST LILIES

Apricot / Orange / Pink / Blush / Gold-banded / Carmine / White / Yellow / Marbled

No group of flowers offers more various forms of beauty than the Lilies. Good bulbs planted this spring should provide splendid flowers from June on with ordinary care. Most Lilies like sunshine on their tops and shade about their roots. They are excellent for interplanting among low shrubs or other plants.

EARLY LILIES

Lilium Hansonii. A very important and beautiful Lily that is easy to grow. It is perfectly hardy and very desirable for border planting, improving from year to year. One clump will often grow to enormous size, producing dozens of flower-spikes, all crowned with clusters of finely reflexed blooms 2 inches across. The color is a warm yellow, faintly spotted brown. Each cluster will contain as many as twelve individual blooms, on spikes 3 to 5 feet tall. It prefers a little shade and blooms in early June. Select bulbs, 85 cts. each, $8 for 10, $75 per 100. (Bulbs of L. Hansonii are about the size of an orange.)

Lilium regale. Royal Lily. Lovely, flaring trumpets of pearly white, suffused with golden yellow in the center, and marbled with bronzy pink on the outside. Wiry, leafy stems 2 to 5 feet high, with two to twelve flowers at the top. A superb Lily requiring only the most casual care, and succeeding under ordinary conditions of soil and exposure. Blooms in June, right after Candidum. Extra-selected bulbs, $5 for 10, $45 per 100.

MIDSEASON LILIES

Lilium japonicum (L. Kramerii). This is one of the few pink Lilies. We always have great success with it in our own gardens and cannot recommend it too highly. Its finely shaped trumpets of coral tint are carried horizontally on stems 3 feet or more in height. The soil generally advised is a light loam, but the color comes finest in peat. It is so beautiful and unusual a Lily that it is worth taking pains with it. Select bulbs, 60 cts. each, $5.50 for 10, $50 per 100. (Bulbs of L. japonicum (L. Kramerii) are about the size of a small apple.)

Lilium Brownii (L. odorum; L. japonicum). One of the finest and most satisfactory Lilies. The flower-stem is 3 to 4 feet tall, tinged with reddish brown, and the foliage is long, narrow, and deep green. The flowers, opening in June and July, are massive, well-formed, and deliciously fragrant. They are pale yellow, fading to creamy white of great purity. Plant in light sandy loam and give good drainage. Extra-select bulbs, $1.25 each, $12 for 10, $110 per 100. (These are large, heavy bulbs.)

LATE-FLOWERING LILIES

Lilium auratum. The best of the late summer flowers and the queenliest of all Lilies is L. auratum, the Golden-rayed Lily of Japan, discovered on the slopes of Fuji-Yama, growing wild and untouched in all its glory. There it grew in porous, open soil composed of volcanic matter and overlaid with woodland mold. This is one of the easiest Lilies to grow in cool woodland where it keeps damp at the roots. It is a stem-rooting Lily, as well as having roots that issue from the bulb at the base, and should, therefore, be planted very deep—as much as 12 inches. It should be mulched, preferably with granulated peat. Stems of big bulbs often reach a height of 5 feet, bearing as many as twenty enormous flowers. Blooms in August. Select bulbs, 8 to 9 in. circum., 35 cts. each, $3.20 for 10, $29 per 100.

I had a few Lilies from you this spring which bloomed profusely, and I want to say just one word about Lilium auratum. You state in your advertisement of this Lily that it has been known to reach a height of 5 feet and bear as many as twenty enormous flowers.

I am willing to make affidavit to the following: I had three spikes from the bulbs you sent me this spring, two of which reached the height of 8 feet, bearing twenty-four blooms each, and measuring from 8 to 10 inches across, while the other grew to be 7 feet high and bore twenty-seven blossoms measuring from 7 to 8 inches across.

Now I do not know that this was an unusual growth, but I do know that they were admired by everyone who saw them, and were the talk of the town.—JAMES CASON, Murfreesboro, Tennessee.

Lilium speciosum magnificum.

Carmine-pink blooms, spotted crimson, with white margins. Very robust and substantial. Blooms in August or September. Select bulbs, 8 to 9 in. circum., 35 cts. each, $3.15 for 10, $29 per 100.

Lilium speciosum album. One of the most beautiful Lilies. The snow-white flowers have pale green-gold stripes and are borne in August and September. Native of Korca. Supply very limited. Select bulbs, 8 to 9 in., 55 cts. each, $5 for 10, $48 per 100.

Lilium Henryi. A vigorous grower, 6 to 8 feet high, and one of the most distinctive of all. Flowers of graceful form, a rich orange-yellow, with a green band. Extra fine. Prefers shade and wind shelter. Plant very deep—10 to 12 inches. Blooms in July or early August. 8 to 9 inch bulbs, 70 cts. each, $6.75 for 10, $64 per 100.

A Very Special Offer. Variety Box of Lilies: 8 bulbs, one of each color of the varieties in this list ($5.20 value) $3.50; 3 of each variety, 24 bulbs in all ($15 value) $10.

WE SEND DIRECTIONS WITH EVERY BOX

Lilium Willmottiae

This beautiful and rare Lily was introduced from China and is of strong and vigorous constitution. Ordinarily it grows to a height of 4 feet and bears about twenty flowers on a stem, but it has reached a height of 6 to 7 feet with as many as sixty flowers. The vivid orange-red flowers are 3 inches across, covered with numerous small brown spots. It blooms so abundantly as to need staking if planted in a windy situation. Stem-rooting. Plant in fall or early spring, 8 inches deep. July flowering. Extra-strong bulbs, $1.25 each, $11 for 10, $100 per 100.

Lilium canadense

The broadly funnel-shaped, drooping flowers are borne on longish stalks about 3 feet high, and are almost bell-shaped, with the ends of the petals only very slightly turned back. In color they vary from golden yellow to orange, handsomely spotted inside and very graceful and pretty. This is an excellent Lily to plant among azaleas, in moist peat or very light loam or leaf-mold. It is hardy, making it excellent for naturalizing in thin woodland. Base-roots; fall planting about 5 inches deep. June, July flowering. Selected bulbs, 85 cts. for 3, $2.50 for 10, $22 per 100.

Lilium elegans in variety

The number of forms and varieties is legion, varying in color from pale lemon-yellow to rich orange-brown, embracing various tints of orange, apricot to approaching crimson. They also vary in flowering season. A large planting in mixture through a colony of funkia produces a most effective display of flashing tones of gold and flame, orange, apricot and scarlet, continuous for a considerable period. Stem-roots; plant 6 to 8 inches deep in sunny situation. June, July flowering. Extra-selected bulbs, $1 for 3, $3 for 10, $28 per 100.

Lilium elegans, Alice Wilson. A dwarf Japanese Lily having large, upright, cup-shaped flowers of clear lemon-yellow. Thrives in ordinary garden soil, preferring light loam, peat and leaf-mold. Splendid for rock-gardens and for naturalizing. Stem-roots; plant 6 to 8 inches deep in sunny situation among dwarf shrubs or funkia. June flowering. Extra-heavy bulbs, $1.25 for 3, $3.75 for 10, $35 per 100.

L. pardalinum. The famous Leopard Lily. Very striking, bright orange flowers with maroon spots. Grows 6 to 7 feet high; very hardy. Requires excellent drainage. Plant 8 inches deep. $1.25 for 3, $3.50 for 10, $32 per 100.

L. superbum. Grows from 3 to 5 feet tall and becomes readily established in the garden. When it is well fixed it will produce as many as 40 nodding, brilliant, orange-red flowers on a stem. Prefers a damp place and grows well in the shade. Planted in large groups or masses it is extremely effective in late July and August. $1 for 3, $2.50 for 10, $22 per 100.

L. tigrinum fl.-pl. The Double Tiger Lily. Orange-red, spotted black. The hardest of all Lilies. Blooms in September. 75 cts. for 3, $2.25 for 10, $20 per 100.

L. tigrinum splendens. The Single Tiger Lily. Identical to the above except that it is single. 75 cts. for 3, $2 for 10, $18 per 100.

Dutchman's Pipe (Aristolochia siphon)

Wherever dense, cool shade is needed, its giant, overlapping, heart-shaped leaves will provide it. This is an extraordinarily vigorous plant, growing 30 to 40 feet high, completely covering the space permitted it with a sun- and rain-proof shelter. The curious, pipe-shaped, purple-brown flowers are most interesting and are followed by attractive seed-pods. It is perfectly hardy. 2 to 3 ft., $1 each, $10 per doz.

Fleece Vine (Polygonum Auberti)

Slender, very graceful vine which makes abundant growth and plenty of ornamental foliage, and is covered in late summer with long, spiral racemes of pearly white flowers in great abundance. One of the most decorative vines for arbors, tree trunks, fences, stone walls, or wherever a living drapery of green and a foamy mass of flowers is desirable. 2-yr. plants, $1 each, $10 per doz.

SCHENLEY

GARDENS

Specialists in Flowering Bulbs and Genuine English Flower Seeds

CHESWICK, PENNSYLVANIA.

September 1, 1930

CHARLES VAN ZYVERDEN
Flower Bulb Specialist
PRESIDENT SCHENLEY GARDENS, INC.

A Personal Word

If I were going to buy bulbs, I would not entrust my order to someone who merely dabbles in them as a side line, with little understanding of their proper selection and care. I should get them from someone who knows and loves bulbs.

If you buy bulbs from me you have the pleasurable knowledge that I have known and handled bulbs all my life, and that bulbs are the one thing of all things with which I am most familiar.

COMMENDATIONS—

Names on Request:

"My Tulips from your bulbs are 'the talk of the town.' I had flowers as large, spread out, as a pie plate, on stems two feet high, and as large as my little finger. People said they had never seen such Tulips."

"Last fall I bought some Tulip bulbs from you. Every one has bloomed and they are without doubt the most beautiful I have ever seen. Side by side with them I have other Tulips; and I didn't know there could be so much difference in bulbs. You have made me a satisfied customer."

"The Princeton Garden Club held a spring Flower Show last Friday, and there were 17 classes for Tulips. With flowers grown from your bulbs, I took 12 First Prizes, 6 Second Prizes, and 2 Third Prizes, having had two entries in a few of the classes."

Dear Friend:—

To sell the best bulbs produced in Holland at reasonable cost, and to help my customers get fine results by practical suggestions for best use of bulbs in the garden picture, has been my business policy since I started.

No other concern, I believe, receives as many compliments upon the wonderful results their bulbs produce, as does the Schenley Gardens, for I make it my personal interest and pride to supply only the very finest quality.

Constant insistence upon the best, combined with careful study of results as I obtain them in my trial-gardens, is a guarantee of expert service. I solicit your orders, confident that I can please you fully, and am ready at all times to make good anything that is not to your entire satisfaction.

Very sincerely,

Charles Van Zyverden
President.

P. S.—You cannot afford to deprive your garden of the necessary material to make it a source of beauty and delight next spring. A small annual purchase of Tulips is a guarantee of lovely blooms at a time when you will most appreciate them. A fine spring garden is a good start for a successful year.

Bristol Fairy Baby's
Breath and Gaillardia,
Schenley Gardens Special

Baby's Breath - Bristol Fairy (Gypsophila)

Makes a fine, misty plant 3 to 4 feet high and as much through, covered in early summer with tiny white, double flowers which look like a miniature snow-storm. As the flowers fade, new shoots come into bloom, keeping up the display until late autumn. Splendid for cutting, to mix with larger, heavier flowers, and much handsomer than the old-fashioned Baby's Breath whose flowers were so insignificant. The fresh flowers can be dried for winter bouquets, keeping their pearly white color all winter. Good plants, 60 cts. each, $5 per doz.

Gaillardia - Schenley Gardens Special

Showy summer flowers in bloom all season. Bright yellow, edged and banded with red, in a multitude of variations and shades. They are borne on long, slender, leafless stems which make them ideal for cutting, and their brilliance makes gay spots of color in the garden. The plants are hardy and endure for many years, growing larger and finer each season. Good roots, 30 cts. each, $3 per doz.

Columbine - Schenley Gardens Long- Spurred Hybrids, Extra-Selected (Aquilegia)

Spring-flowering plants with handsome foliage which keeps in good condition all season. The flowering stems rise 2 to 4 feet high, bearing clouds of white, yellow, pink, violet, purple, and blue flowers in endless combinations and shades. They are exceedingly graceful and airy, and mix especially well with irises, which are in bloom at the same time. The early flowers keep well when cut, but as a rule they are more effective in the garden than in the vase, because of their elusive, half-wild, out-of-doors look. In spite of their seeming fragility, they endure for weeks, blooming longer, perhaps, than any other perennial. Fine plants, $2.75 per doz., $25 per 100.
